THE BUDGET.

The Budget of the Chancellor of the Exchequer will not give unmixed satisfaction. Nothing human ever does. But it will, perhaps, go as near to it as the complications of affairs and the imperfections of humanity will admit. Persons who hold a different opinion on the sugar duties may object and be disappointed: the enemies of the malt duty may be vexed: one of two other small and outlying minorities may be discontented, but taking the country as a whole, sensible men of business, who are the ultimate authority in this matter, will certainly approve of the principal propositions of the Chancellor of the Exchequer, and will wonder and admire the singular ingenuity with which they are pieced together. A Budget is half an artistic work to Mr Gladstone. His figures have a kind of ingenious beauty—sometimes, perhaps, a little misleading, but often, as now, embodying and ensuring good results with a delicate and singular precision.

Mr Gladstone overlays his Budget speeches with so much information, that persons who have but a slight faculty of reading can scarcely make out from them what the real position of the current financial year is. Mr Gladstone states it perfectly, but he states so much else that some men of business, who have little time and little quickness in catching miscellaneous facts, hardly comprehend as they should how the matter stands. Yet every Budget must be a simple matter when it is reduced to its real essence.

The expenditure of the country is for the current year—the year 1864-5—as follows:—

Debt	26,400,000
Consolidated fund	1,930,000
Army	14,844,000
Navy	10,432,000
Postal	883,000
Miscellaneous	7,629,000
Collection of revenue	4,692,000
	66,810,000
Reserve for alterations in miscellaneous and other estimates	80,000
	66,890,000

And the income is as follows:—

Customs	23,150,000
Excise	18,030,000
Stamps	9,320,000
Taxes	3,250,000
Income tax	8,600,000
Post Office	3,950,000
Crown lands	310,000
Indemnities	600,000
Miscellaneous	2,250,000
	69,460,000

This estimate of income is framed, after allowing for the diminution on the income tax, about 850,000*l*, which was the result of the Budget of last year. The new assessment of the income tax has shown so large an augmentation in the means of the country, that the best authorities feel quite justified in venturing on the present computation. The year's accounts therefore stands—

Income	69,460,000
Expenditure	66,890,000
Surplus	2,570,000

the whole of which is applicable to the reduction of taxation.

There are four principal claimants for this money—the reducers of the sugar duties; next, those of the income tax; next, those of the fire insurance tax; and next, those of the malt duty. These four classes converge to the focus of the Exchequer, and it is for the Chancellor to say which he ought to favour and which he ought to refuse.

As far as this journal is concerned, there can be no doubt which we think ought to be refused. Mr Cobden, who will vote for taking off any tax, because he thinks that the best mode of reducing an unnecessary expenditure, has lately advocated the repeal of the malt tax. But we hold that we should not take off taxes in order to limit our expenditure. We will not consent so far to stultify ourselves. We believe the English people to be quite fit to fix what should be their expenditure, and then to settle what is the best mode of raising it,—what should be their taxation. And upon any other ground the malt duty is a good tax. It is a tax on the drinking of beer, and if a luxury of that sort—a healthy and beneficial luxury suitable and pleasant to the mass of men—is not to be taxed, what is to be taxed? Sixty-six millions a year cannot be raised without many imposts, and if a commodity which most people wish for, and most people could upon urgent necessity abandon, is not to be taxed, indirect taxation should be abolished as a whole. That the farmer would be materially and essentially benefited by the repeal of the Excise duty on malt has never been shown and cannot be shown. It might as well be said that the paper manufacturer would be benefited by the repeal of the Excise duty on paper. The consumer is the person in both instances who reaps the gain; and what is the exact reason for extreme sympathy with distressed beer-drinkers has as yet not been explained.

Leaving, then, the malt duty, out of the question, there are three important classes to be benefited by the surplus, and Mr Gladstone benefits them all. He deals first with the sugar duties. And upon this subject it is most satisfactory to us that he expressly confirms with the full weight of his authority the conclusions which have been advocated in this journal. The question at issue between the extreme reformers of the sugar duties and the advocates like ourselves, not of the precise details of the present scale, but of the idea and principle of classification, is very simple. It is this.

What would be the state of things if there were no duty on sugar at all? Our fiscal legislation ought on this subject to approximate as far as possible to what would be the state of things if there were no fiscal legislation upon the matter whatever. A uniform duty, as we have often shown, is the precise opposite of this. It is a bounty on extracting and purifying sugar outside the Custom House. The extractor and purifier (we avoid the word refiner, because it has a technical and limited signification) inside the Custom House pays duty on the refuse he casts away as well as on the saccharine essence which he elicits; the extractor outside pays on that saccharine essence alone. There is no maintaining that this legislation is an impartial legislation—that it is equivalent, as it should be, to no fiscal legislation at all. It gives a bounty to one manufacturer in which the other manufacturer has no share, and from which, of necessity, he is altogether excluded.

Mr Gladstone, too, justly remarked that those more moderate advocates of a uniform duty who would have what they call one duty on "refined" and one duty on "unrefined" sugar, or, again, one duty on "liquid" and another on "ordinary" sugar, have put themselves, in logic and upon principle, entirely out of court. These are but single and particular stages in the extractive process—in the separation of the crystalline saccharine matter from coarser ingredients. Whether the saccharine substance is connected with solid matter and with liquid matter; whether it is in the state the trade call refined, or in what it calls unrefined, is entirely immaterial. The principle is the same. A uniform duty on liquid cane juice—on the coarsest excrement of the sugar-cane, and also upon the nicest and most delicate product of the manufactory, is consistent and intelligible. But an arbitrary change of duties at a single stage, whether of "solid" or "liquid," or of "refined" or "unrefined," is by no means intelligible. It is only a coarse and rudimentary sort of classification. These particular stages in the process of extraction differ in no vital circumstance from others; and when the principle of classification is thus admitted, its careful and elaborate graduation—its distinct adaptation to the intended result—is a simple conclusion of plain common sense.

Mr Gladstone proposes to reduce the sugar duties thus:—

	Present duty. Per cwt. s	d	Proposed duty. Per cwt. s	d
Refined sugar	18	4	12	10
Clayed to white clayed	16	0	11	8
Clayed to brown clayed	13	10	10	6
Muscovado	12	8	9	4

And for a new class of inferior sugars, not rising above No. 6 in the "Dutch" scale, 8s 2d. The smallest of these reductions is 3s 4d per cwt, and the largest 5s 6d.

The principle of these charges is likewise the principle of the present classification; and Mr Gladstone only desires to carry out that principle more precisely, and to modify the duties at both ends of the scale where an improper adjustment in two opposite ways misdirected industry and diverted the natural course of commerce. The difference between the two highest classes of sugars used to be 2s 4d, which was too great and grave an advantage to home refiners; it will now be 1s 2d only, the difference between 12s 10d and 11s 8d, so that the home manufacturer will no longer derive an advantage from the excessive and abrupt transition at the higher end of the scale. And on the other hand, by way of compensation, he will be able to import the very coarse sugars at a low duty which now he can only obtain by paying a high and unremunerative one. The foreign manufacturer will gain at the top of the scale; the home manufacturer will gain at the bottom; and in both cases the modification brings the actual sugar duty nearer to its principle and idea,—nearer to what it should be.

Mr Gladstone next proposes to reduce the income tax 1d, making it 6d. This proposal needs no explanation, and will, we think, be generally acceptable. The reduction of the income tax below 6d will be a step requiring much consideration, but most people have expected to see it reduced as low as that. This operation is to date from the 1st of April last, but its entire effect will not be felt during this financial year, because the income tax is of necessity a quarter in arrear, and is generally a little more so.

Mr Gladstone also proposes to reduce the duty on fire insurance, which in our judgment is the most questionable part of the Budget, and, if we judge from the hesitating mode in which it is proposed, it is the part of which the author is least confident, and which he regards with least favour. We have great doubts as to the removal of any part of this tax, considering it as a matter of pure finance, and apart from all political expediencies and historical antecedents. And though we would reserve our final decision, we are not certain that the precise alteration which has now been suggested is the very best which could have been proposed. But these more refined arguments may be afterwards considered; our present duty is to state Mr Gladstone's proposal. He proposes to reduce the duty on the fire insurance of stock-in-trade by one-half, and to leave the duty on the fire insurance of other things as it now stands. The tax on insuring stock-in-trade is to be 1s 6d, instead of 3s, and the tax on all other fire insurance is to remain as at present.

There are some other minor changes, which are best described in the Resolutions which we print elsewhere. The principal is a reduction of the tea licences in rural districts; but the financial effect of them all is entirely unimportant.

The effect of these changes may be easily stated, but it cannot be fully understood unless we bear in mind the distinction between what Mr Gladstone calls relief from taxation and the loss to the revenue occasioned by his measures. To take the sugar duties, for example, he reduces the duty and this would occasion a loss say of 1,700,000*l*, if all other circumstances remained the same. This may be the relief from taxation if the country chooses,—but the country does not choose it. It takes advantage of the cheapness; it consumes more sugar, and in consequence the loss to the revenue is considerably less than it would otherwise be. The change in what we may call the compulsory taxation is lessened by a voluntary augmentation of consumption, by an important increase of optional taxation. Bearing this in mind, the account of the Budget is in its bare figures as follows:—

Relief from Taxation.

Sugar	1,719,000
Income tax	1,233,000
Fire insurance	283,000
Tea licences	15,000

which is divided thus:—part to be borne this year, part next, and part in some sense not to be borne at all, but to be made up by the stimulating effect of increased cheapness upon the consumption of desirable commodities.

Reduction of Income in 1864-5.
Sugar	1,330,000
Income tax	800,000
Fire insurance	192,000
Tea licences and other small changes	10,000
		2,332,000
Reduction of Income in 1865-6.
Sugar	28,000
Income tax	433,000
Fire insurance	70,000
		531,000
To be Made up by Increased Consumption.
Sugar	361,000
Fire insurance	21,000
Tea licences and small changes	5,000
		387,000
		3,250,000

The effect of these remissions is striking enough, but it is more striking still when we consider what a great relief Mr Gladstone gave last year. The figures are as follows:—

Relief by the Budget of April, 1863	4,601,000
Ditto — — — 1864	3,250,000
Total in the two years	7,851,000

and of all this, except 531,000*l*, we feel the effect this year. 531,000*l* is deferred till 1865-6, but the rest we enjoy now. So great a result has hardly ever been obtained by financial dexterity applied to national revenue. It could only be achieved by admirable skill energetically applied to first-rate resources.

Mr Gladstone said quietly in his peroration—"Looking "at the proposals of a particular year, they may be, perhaps, "just like the stones cast by the passing traveller on a heap. "Each separate contribution is small, but the general result "is that a pile arises which is sufficient to commemorate some "renowned action or some famous man." In the great reform of English taxation, several famous men will be entitled to remembrance, but even from a casual survey of two years, it is clear that Mr Gladstone's actions will be amongst the most remarkable, and his name one of the most famous.

GARIBALDI.

A DISPOSITION towards hero-worship is indicative of certain estimable tendencies, but is not necessarily and of itself a safe, a valuable, or an ennobling quality of mind. It is well to have a great capacity for reverence; but it is well also to be somewhat dainty and thoughtful as to the objects we select for reverence. It is well to be able to idolise the really great both among the living and the dead; but it is not well for our idolising faculty to be hungry or omnivorous. A man who can worship at any shrine is like an ass who can eat at any manger, or a spaniel that will lick any hand. To worship heroes is right and just; but to endow unheroic men with heroic qualities because we have a craving to fall down and do obeisance to some object or other, is a weakness which is in no way worthy. To appreciate and admire, even with some extravagance, what is truly admirable, strengthens and elevates the soul; but the influence of the habit must depend upon the object we select for admiration. To adore a demi-god is ennobling; to adore a fetish is degrading. Let us do homage to heroes without stint and without scruple; but let us be both discriminating in our homage, and nice as to our idols. Let us worship them by all means, if they are true and noble; but let us worship them for the qualities which they have, and not fall into the error of endowing them with qualities which they have not.

A great and true-hearted patriot, and one who has many worshippers, has just landed on our shores,—a man worthy of all honour and of much love,—a man to be greeted with the warmest welcome;—but a man, at the same time, whose character and career especially call upon us for the exercise of that discriminating appreciation of which we have just spoken. Garibaldi's character is singularly simple and easy to decipher. He is not a statesman; he is not a wise man: in political sagacity, in range of mind, in intellectual powers, he is indisputably below par. His prejudices are very strong, his capacity of appreciating other men and other views is singularly narrow, his insight into character defective in the extreme, and his want of judgment almost unmatched among great military and revolutionary leaders. His extraordinary strength lies in the enthusiasm which pervades his own spirit, and which, just because it so pervades him, he is able to communicate to and sustain in others. His sole greatness—and it is a most real and rare sort—lies in the childlike purity of his nature, in his unegotistic generosity, in his unswerving singleness of purpose. He has faith to remove mountains, and he lives and acts among a people where faith has more power than over our cold Northern temperaments. But unfortunately his faith is promiscuous and unsifting. He has faith in special providences, in wild schemes, in weak men and in bad men. He is easily impressed, easily bamboozled, easily misled. He is, in fact, an intensely amiable, affectionate, believing, unsuspecting child. He never could be brought to trust Cavour, or to mistrust Victor Emanuel.

Wherever moral qualities alone were needed, Garibaldi has proved equal to the occasion, and has shone brightly. Usually, where intellect and penetration also were required, he has been tried and found wanting. His career, as a whole, has been a very noble one: more pure in the earlier—more glorious, but also more questionable, in the later portion. As a soldier of fortune in the service of one of the South American Republics, the integrity and simplicity of his conduct and habits left a deep impression on all who came in contact with him. In 1848 and 1849, he acted the part of a true hero and patriot in his own country, both at Rome and in the North, and first displayed his singular aptitude for irregular warfare. After the failure of that first attempt for the liberation of Italy, he retired into private life, steadily refused to participate in any of the abortive and foolish insurrectionary schemes got up by Mazzini, and followed his original profession as a sailor, commanding, we believe, a vessel of very humble description trading between Genoa and some English ports. The war of 1859 brought him out once more as a warrior. In aid of the Piedmontese forces among the Italian lakes, he gave proof of the most splendid qualities as a guerilla chief, and became at once, and has ever since remained, the idol of his countrymen. He contracted at this period a deep and irrational admiration, a sort of passionate loyalty, for the King, in whom he fancied he had found a congenial spirit, but who, in truth, resembles him in his love for his native land, his courage, his recklessness, and his want of good sense,—but, alas! in none of his higher and purer characteristics. In common with all his countrymen, he was bitterly disgusted and disappointed with the peace of Villafranca, and resolved that that should not be the last act of the drama. After a while, watching his opportunity, and, we do not doubt, in secret understanding with Victor Emanuel, and probably with Cavour also, he planned the great adventure of his life,—the expedition to Sicily,—an adventure which can only be judged of by the result. He set out with only a thousand followers, to overthrow a monarch who commanded a considerable army, and to conquer and annex a country containing nearly ten millions of inhabitants, many of whom were believed to be loyal to their Sovereign, and most of whom were known to be cowardly, unenergetic, and unreliable. The expedition was a purely filibustering one; an open violation of all public law; the audacious invasion of a band of free lances or Condottieri. Had it failed,—as at one time seemed almost certain, as in any other hands and against any other monarch it must have done,—Garibaldi would have been hanged as a pirate, despised as an insane fanatic, and condemned, even by those who regretted and had loved him, as something more than a fool. As it was he succeeded—succeeded in spite of the cowardice and incapacity of the people he came to liberate, succeeded partly by his own spirit and enthusiasm and that of his small band, succeeded mainly because Francis II. had no capacity and no hearty adherents, and because his soldiers had no motive for resistance. Garibaldi's success was in a fashion miraculous; that is, he had no right whatever to calculate on success. He succeeded, first, because he met with no opposition worth calling such, and, secondly, because at the critical moment when the King showed fight at Gaeta, England and France lent their moral sanction to the wild enterprise, and the King of Sardinia threw off the mask when the prize appeared so nearly within his reach, and sent Cialdini with a regular army to complete and clench the conquest. Nevertheless, it is impossible to deny that Garibaldi's enterprise was of a character which no political morality could have sanctioned, and no political sagacity could have ventured to advise. It was a desperate attempt, but it succeeded, and deservedly enough, therefore, its originator and conductor became invested at once with a halo of popular, heroic, and almost fabulous renown. The achievement—being achieved—was a magnificent one, made Italy one great Kingdom, and gave Victor Emanuel a vast accession to his dominions. Since that time, Garibaldi has done nothing great or wise, and has done, and been on the point of doing, more than one thing strangely culpable and foolish. As a member of Parliament, he was intemperate and unwise; he was deep in an intrigue with foreign insurgents to bring about a European war; and he so far forgot his duty and his fame as to inaugurate a deliberate rebellion and a most silly and unwarrantable civil war—in the course of which he received the wound which nearly sacrificed his life. In fact, he had lost his head; the wonderful success of the Sicilian expedition had demoralised him, as it might have done a wiser and soberer brain, and made him fancy not only that he could do almost anything, but that his doctrines and opinions ought to dominate all others, and determine the policy of his Government. In this way, as has happened to so many patriots before him, he narrowly escaped the sin and the shame of undoing all the good that he had done to his country; for assuredly, if the civil war which he began had spread and established itself, Austria would have taken the opportunity for an easy and crushing revenge, and perhaps would have recovered her old position, and France would probably have looked on while the dream of one United and Independent Italy, which she had never favoured, was shattered in the dust. Garibaldi has even more reason to thank God for his defeat and capture at Aspromonte than for his almost incredibly easy conquest of Sicily and Naples.

Therefore, as we said at the outset, let us welcome him with cordiality and affection as a patriot and hero, true, brave, and honest, but not wise nor without blame. If he has doubled the dominions of his Sovereign, if he has dethroned about the worst and meanest monarch of our days, if he has almost realised the old intoxicating conception of Italy one and indivisible, and if, in doing all this, he has done nothing to make his friends love him one whit the less, or to leave the faintest stain on his integrity,—there is no need for us to forget that he has committed the two most flagrant violations of political morality known in the public code,—he has piratically invaded the territory of a foreign Sovereign, and he has levied war against his own; and that his life has twice been justly forfeited to offended law. He is not a William Tell; he is not a George Washington; he is not even a Kossuth or a Cavour;—he is simply a brave, impulsive, pure, single-minded soldier, through whose instrumentality, and by the means of whose felicitous rashness, Providence has seen fit to bring about one of the most astonishing, and we trust one of the most beneficial, revolutions of modern days.

MR WHITBREAD'S PROPOSAL TO ABOLISH TICKETS-OF-LEAVE.

There is in the country, and we fear even in the House of Commons, what we must call a superstitious notion about tickets-of-leave. There is no doubt that ticket-of-leave men have not generally proved themselves a very estimable part of the community, and consequently there is a cry, which we see Mr Whitbread is preparing himself to lead, to abolish tickets-of-leave. He will move, in the Committee on the Penal Servitude Bill,—which is, we believe, to be taken on Monday next,—to make all the remissions of future sentences on convicts unconditional; in other words, if a convict, by good conduct in prison, should gain the permitted remission of the last portion of his sentence, Mr Whitbread would have him discharged absolutely, and without any conditions as to the conduct he is to pursue during the remainder of his nominal sentence. The effect of this step may be, of course, to get rid of much of the terror attaching to ticket-of-leave men,—just in the way in which we might get rid of the terror attaching to muzzled dogs by rendering it illegal to muzzle dogs at all. There will be no more cases of desperate assaults committed by ticket-of-leave men, because there will be no ticket-of-leave men, but the assaults which were before committed by men in spite of great moral obstructions will now be committed by the same men, and by more of them, without any such moral obstructions; and all that the public will gain will be that these (more numerous) ruffianisms will be attributed in future wholly to discharged criminals who are under no sort of special restraint, instead of being in part committed by men who are running more than the ordinary risks of discovery when they indulge in crime. Mr Whitbread probably knows, and the public probably know, that tickets-of-leave do not give leave to commit crime, but either are, or ought to be, special fetters on the commission of crime. So that what Mr Whitbread appears to wish is this: that a convict sentenced to eight years' penal servitude, and who, by good conduct in prison, has diminished his term to six years, should for the unexpired two years be placed in the best possible position for entering on a new career of crime, instead of being still under so much modified restraint and surveillance as may render the motive for honest industry greater to the discharged convict, and may guard the public against his return to crime. Mr Whitbread's amendment comes simply to an exhortation to dispense entirely with one large class of guarantees which we have hitherto thought fit to take against the members of the criminal class who have been detected and punished. To recur to our former illustration, it says, 'Your muzzled dogs have been found dangerous, therefore take off all the muzzles, and then the public will have only one fear instead of two; they will still have reason to fear the unmuzzled dogs, but the number of terrible classes will be halved, though the number of terrible individuals will have been increased.' We confess the expedient seems to us to savour a little of imbecility,—the more that it strikes at the very root of the principle which the Penal Servitude Bill is, we suppose, meant to embody. We can scarcely believe a rumour that the Government looks upon this amendment of Mr Whitbread's with some little favour. If it be so, we can only recommend them to withdraw the Bill they have introduced, and substitute one of a quite opposite principle.

For, first, it is of the very essence of the Bill now passing through the House to lengthen the sentences passed upon convicts, in order to give a sufficient time for the operation of the measures by which it is hoped they may be reclaimed from the class of professional criminals, and fitted to become once more members of an honest industrial society. The Chief Justice and Mr Adderley, whose views are in direct opposition to the principle of the present Bill, wish to see the principle of reformatory punishment entirely given up, and to have sharp deterrent sentences, as short as may be consistently with the scale of crime,—necessarily much shorter than is now proposed, in order that they be much heavier and less tolerable while they last,—substituted for these efforts to act upon the prisoner's character by any other means than sheer pain and hardship. That is an intelligible view, though, we believe, a very unwise one. But to that view the principles of the present Penal Servitude Bill is absolutely opposed. The sentences are to be lengthened in order to have the means of remitting a portion at the close to well-behaved convicts, and so to be able to bring the principle of hope and of self-help to bear on the criminal. That is utterly inconsistent with the purely deterrent idea. Again, the convicts are to be better "classified," and the public works-prisons subdivided. That, again, is quite inconsistent with the purely deterrent principle, the purpose of this better classification and more thorough subdivision being, not of course to heighten the penalty to all, but to open room for the amelioration of the condition of the better disposed amongst them. Lastly, the "mark system" is to be introduced,—of which the very principle is emulation and (relatively speaking) reward,—a system absolutely absurd if the object is to make the sentence as hateful as possible, while it lasts. The Bill, therefore, as it at present stands, is based on the idea of engrafting a sort of education for freedom on severe preliminary punishment,—very in severe the outset, but graduated according to the disposition of the criminal as it proceeds. And yet the most important step of all,—that which provides for the inspection of the conditionally released criminal after his discharge from prison, during the remainder of his sentence,—i. e. while he still remains within the grasp of the law, though he may have, during good behaviour, a permissive freedom,—would by Mr Whitbread's amendment be cut off, and the criminal committed to the influences of his old companions, without any sort of restraint, at the very moment when his choice of life for the future would be most critical. There might be logic in this, if the idea from the beginning had been to make prison an intolerable torture, and rely exclusively on that torture to ensure that no sane man would risk a return to it. But the idea is quite otherwise, namely, to shade off the penal element in the sentence towards the period of discharge, so that the prisoner would leave the prison with much less disagreeable associations than he had had at first, and then and there would be plunged into a vortex of temptation inciting to fresh crime. To abandon needlessly any guarantee for good conduct at such a moment, and after such a discipline, would be not only silly but illogical.

Moreover, the present Bill appears to be anxious about identifying the discharged convicts, if they fell again into a course of crime; as it provides for their being seen by the metropolitan police, and their photographs being taken and sent to the various police districts throughout the country. It further requires them to report themselves to the police office of the district to which they first betake themselves within seven days of their liberation,—though (with wonderful ineptitude) it does not require them to report their departure from that district (which may take place next day) or to report themselves ever again after that first arbitrary visit to an arbitrarily chosen police office. Still, if this part of the measure means anything, it means to increase the facilities for discovering and identifying the prisoner who, after a remission of his sentence, relapses into crime. And yet Mr Whitbread wants to engraft on these somewhat desultory measures to identify him, one which would, in fact, wipe away all right to take precautions for following his career. If his dismissal is to be unconditional, all further surveillance is mere unauthorised espionage by the police, which would be as little legal in the case of a discharged convict with a remitted sentence as in the case of a gentleman who had committed no crime at all. What we really require is a system, not of espionage, but of periodical regulation of the ticket-of-leave men, requiring them to satisfy the inspectors of police that they are living an honest and industrious life, from month to month — we want an acknowledged relation between them and the police, which would enable the police to serve them, by making known their case, and the character with which they left prison in the first instance, and the mode in which they have sustained it since. This would really give the improved convict a fair chance, and would secure the immediate apprehension of the degenerating convict.

The only objection to this is the prejudice of Sir George Grey and the Government against surveillance after discharge,—the only prejudice which could possibly incline them to accept Mr Whitbread's amendment, destructive as it is of the very principle of their Bill. And yet all the authority, both in Ireland and England, goes to show that this surveillance, if frankly admitted and put on the proper footing, does far more to gain work for the discharged convict than he could otherwise do for himself. Alone and unassisted, he must begin his efforts for work by a lie, by denying his imprisonment, which is clearly a bad beginning. With the recommendation of the police inspectors and the character he brings with him, he can get work given to him without any concealment of his true antecedents, and which, therefore, puts him in so much better a situation for earning a new character. Mr Baker, of Hardwicke Court, has for several years placed young men discharged from his reformatory under the supervision of the police with the best results. Mr Villiers told the House of Commons that in ninety Unions police officers are employed as relieving officers to vagrants, and he recommended the general adoption of this practice. General Cartwright, the inspector of constabulary for the Eastern counties, thinks this relation between the police and the ticket-of-leave men would be most beneficial both to the ticket-of-leave men and the public, and instead of dreading that the relation would prevent the chance of work for the ticket-of-leave man, thinks that it would promote his chance of work. The truth is, that from whatever point of view we look at it,—the safety of the public,—the welfare of the discharged criminal,—or his determent from fresh crime,—from all points of view, thorough surveillance for some period after his release from prison, is the key to a sound system. If the Government are prepared to abandon this, they had better withdraw their Penal Servitude Bill altogether, and get the Lord Chief Justice to prepare another on a quite different principle, which Mr Adderley would, doubtless, be delighted to introduce.

Foreign Correspondence

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

PARIS, Thursday.

The Moniteur of this morning contains the announcement which has been anxiously expected for more than ten days, that the Archduke Maximilian is at last about to accept the Mexican crown, and to take his departure. The ceremony of acceptance is to come off on Saturday, the 9th, and he is to sail on Sunday for his new dominions. It is to be presumed, therefore, that early in the next week the Mexican loan will be issued.

The French Government, I have reason to believe, strongly hopes that the English bondholders will not reject the propositions for a settlement of their claims on Mexico which will be made to them by the contractors for the loan. These propositions, I have before told you, have been drawn up by that Government, in conjunction with the Archduke and his advisers; and it really thinks them as liberal as the State of Mexico, and as due regard for the financial difficulties which will beset the new Emperor at the beginning of his reign, allow to be made. This being so, it seems that it would be politic on the part of the bondholders not to raise objections to them; for in that case they would have a claim hereafter for any service the French Government can render them; whereas by opposition they will incur its ill will; and they must remember that for several years to come its voice will be potential in Mexican finances. In the financial circles of this city, the opinion is general that the conditions offered to the bondholders, so far as they are known, are all that, under the circumstances, could reasonably be expected. One of the principal financial journals, La Semaine Financière, in an article which has the appearance of being "inspired," establishes this point by argument and calculations; and it at the same time repeats a warning which has already been given on authority to the bondholders—that if they are refractory the French Government will throw them over and take the loan altogether out of English hands. I translate the conclusion of this article:—"Our readers may judge by these figures of the alternative which is proposed to the English holders of Mexican bonds. If they accept the propositions made to them, they will have in hand a security which will float between 45 and 50. If they refuse them—if they abandon to France all the advantages of the new loan—if they rigorously insist on demanding the complete and absolute execution of a literal right, which is hardly becoming towards a country which has been in flagrant bankruptcy for ten years,—they will retain their mortgage of 25 per cent. on the Customs; but that will be all. For our part, in submitting these observations to the English bondholders, we do not speak of strict right, but we speak to them the language of expediency. Either we are greatly mistaken, or the bondholders will have the good sense to understand us."

The Bourse has again been inactive and depressed. Even the news of the acceptance of the Mexican Crown by the Austrian Archduke only produced a very slight and transitory effect. It is not only the uneasiness occasioned by the Danish affair which paralyses operations, but the fact that the scarcity of coin is very great, and appears likely to increase rather than diminish. The Bank of France has, however, not yet been under the necessity of raising its rate of discount. Subjoined are the quotations—those of the Orleans and Western railways are ex dividend:—

A Bill has been presented to the Corps Legislatif for withdrawing from circulation the silver pieces of 2f, 1f 50c, and 20c, and replacing them with others of the same size and weight, but of 835 milliemes of silver instead of 900 as heretofore, with a tolerance of 2 milliemes, more or less. Another Bill proposes to abolish a law of 1810 which prevents the opening of iron-works and other industrial establishments without the express permission of the Government; also to abolish various vexatious regulations in the working of mines,—the latter abolition, however, only to take place from 1874.

The following is the market report:—

FLOUR.—At Paris, the demand for delivery is more active than for disposable. Yesterday the quotations for disposable were: choice, 52f the sack of 157 kilogs; first marks, 51f; good, 49f to 50f; other sorts, 47f to 48f 50c. Six months were, for current month, 51f; for May, 51f 50c; June, 52f 50c; July and August, 53f 50c. Type Paris for current month was 31f 50c the 101 kilogs; May and June, 32f 50c; four months of May, 33f.

WHEAT.—The accounts of the growing crops are, generally speaking, satisfactory. At Paris, yesterday, business was not animated: choice was 29f 50c to 30f the sack of 120 kilogs; red, 29f to 29f 50c.; first qualities, 29f; other sorts, 27f 50c to 28f. In commercial wheats, Nievre was 27f to 28f 50c; Montereau, same price; Beauce, 28f to 28f 50c—all offered.

COTTON.—The sales at Havre in the week ending Friday, were 5,743 bales, the greater part Indian, and the arrivals, 7,677, of which upwards of 2,700 from England, and 3,800 from Bombay. The closing quotations were the same as in the previous week: Low New Orleans, 243f the 50 kilogs; good ordinary Broach, 270f; good ordinary Tinnevelly, 255f; good ordinary Madras, 235f. This week, the market has been tolerably active, and yesterday, Madras disposable was 230f; ditto for delivery, 227f 50c to 230f; China, 215f; Jumel, 315f.

SUGAR.—The market was calm at Havre, in the week ending Friday. 476 casks Havana, disposable, 41f for No. 12 in bond; 1,837 ditto for delivery, 39f 50c to 40f for old, 41f for new; 50 tons Java from entrepots, 39f for No. 12 in bond; and 160 tons for delivery, from entrepots, same price. Some damaged Havana was sold by auction. The arrivals exceeded 3,500 casks and 4,000 sacks. The stock on the 1st was 3,550 casks French West India, 27,000 bales Reunion, 31,000 casks Havana, 12,400 sacks Brazil, 27,000 sacks Mauritius. This week, Havana No. 12, 39f; ditto from entrepots, 37f; Pernambuco, No. 12, 37f; and for delivery, 37f 50c. At Nantes, last week, 700 casks Reunion gros grain were taken at, it was said, 60f, bonne quartreme. Nothing was done in other sorts, and prices remained nominally unchanged. This week, there have been no sales. At Bordeaux, last week, no sales were made, and prices had a downward tendency. By auction, however, some damaged Martinique was sold. No sales this week. At Marseilles, last week, the market was calm: 200 casks San Yago, 35f for bonne quatrieme; 1,000 casks Havana by Spanish ships, 36f 50c for No. 12. This week, Havana, by Spanish ship, 36f 50c for No. 12; Cienfuegos, ditto, 35f for bonne quatrieme of Havre.

WOOL.—The sales at Havre, in the week ending Friday, were 55 bales La Plata unwashed, 1f 62½c to 2f 2½c the kilog; 16 Chili ditto, 1f 80c to 2f 30c. The arrivals were rather more than 3,000 bales. This week, Chili, unwashed, 170f the 100 kilogs.

COMMERCIAL AND MISCELLANEOUS NEWS.

The demand for Manchester goods at Bombay, during the month ending March 12, was, owing to the dearness of money and to the unfavourable news from England respecting the Dano-German difficulty, very inactive. A decline of from 5 to 10 per cent. took place in the value of piece goods, and yarns could only be disposed of by submitting to lower prices.

The following returns show the state of the note circulation of the United Kingdom during the four weeks ending March 5, 1864, compared with the previous month:—

	Feb. 6, 1864.	March 5, 1864.	Increase.	Decrease.
	£	£	£	£
Bank of England	20763495	20057054	...	706441
Private Banks	3204757	3105613	...	99144
Joint Stock Banks	2898516	2862762	...	35754
Total in England	26866768	26025429	...	841339

Ireland	5664225	5562559	...	101666
United Kingdom	36618421	35584731	...	1033690

The comparison of the month ending March 7th, 1863, with the month ending March 5th, 1864, shows an increase in the Bank of England circulation of 569,802*l*, an increase in Private Banks of 7,122*l*, and an increase in Joint Stock Banks of 66,778*l*; being a total increase in England of 653,702*l*; while in Scotland there is an increase of 118,125*l*; and in Ireland an increase of 167,954*l*. Thus showing that the month ending 5th March, as compared with the same period last year, presents an increase of 653,702*l* in England, and an increase of 939,781*l* in the United Kingdom. The return of bullion in the Bank of England, for the month ending March 2nd, gives an aggregate amount in both departments of 13,727,385*l*. On a comparison of this with the Return for the month ending February 3rd, there appears to be an increase of 475,343*l*; and a decrease of 717,236*l* as compared with the same period last year. The stock of specie held by the banks in Scotland and Ireland during the month ending 5th March, was 3,386,169*l*; being a decrease of 14,882*l* as compared with the Return of the previous month, and a decrease of 83,003*l* as compared with the corresponding period last year.

The total imports of bullion into the United Kingdom during the week ending April 6, current year, amounted to 88,994*l*, and the exports to 241,506*l*.

THE OLD FORM.

The above Bank accounts would, if made out in the old form, present the following result:—

Liabilities.	£	Assets.	£

A DECREASE of Public Deposits of	461 578
AN INCREASE of Other Deposits of	689,313

A DECREASE of Bullion of	546,756
A DECREASE of Rest of	740,736

The principal change in the above return is the decline in the reserve, owing to the Government disbursements at the end of the quarter, together with the increased demand for money, as shown by the augmentation in the other securities. Only a small portion of the bullion withdrawn from the Bank appears to have been taken for exportation.

Subjoined is our usual table, affording a comparative view of the Bank returns, the Bank rate of discount, the price of Consols, the price of wheat, and the leading exchanges, during a period of four years, corresponding with the present date, as well as ten years back, viz., in 1854:—

In the corresponding week of 1854, news had come to hand of the crossing of the Danube by the Russians. Money was rather easy in London.

In 1861, the Bank rate had been again reduced from 6 to 5 per cent. The suspension of the Preston Old Bank and of the Farringdon and Wantage Bank had been announced. The new Bankruptcy and Insolvency Bill had been passed through the House of Commons. National demonstrations had taken place at Warsaw, and had been forcibly repressed by the soldiery.

In 1862, the money market was easy and capital abundant, but the payments on account of foreign loans, and rumours of further issues, had somewhat depressed the funds.

In 1863, the rate of discount was only 3½ per cent. Speculation in foreign stocks continued very active, especially in Greek bonds. The Confederate loan, after falling to a discount, had rallied to 1½ premium.

The amount of the "other" deposits, as compared with the "other" securities, showed, in 1854, a deficiency of 1,900,283*l*; in 1861, a deficiency of 5,614,215*l*; in 1862, a deficiency of 2,387,869*l*; and in 1863, a deficiency of 4,890,507*l*. In 1864, the deficiency is 9,505,154*l*.

DISCOUNT AND MONEY MARKET.—The demand for money this week has again been active, and scarcely any business has been done below the Bank minimum of 6 per cent. To-day, especially, notwithstanding the large repayments of advances consequent on the release of the dividends, there was a steady inquiry, both at the Bank and in the open market, at full rates. Owing to the large shipments of bullion to Brazil and the colonies, and the unceasing demands for new companies, it is not generally anticipated that the money market will for the present become easier. Annexed are the current rates of discount for paper of various dates :—

30 to 60 days	6	per cent.
3 months	6	per cent.
4 months	6¼	per cent.
6 months	6½	per cent.
— Trade ditto	7	per cent.

On the Stock Exchange, money has been in less demand loans on Government securities being obtainable at 4 to 4½ per cent.

The allowance on deposits at the Joint Stock Banks and discount houses is as follows :—

Joint Stock Banks	*4½ per cent.
Discount houses at call	4½ per cent.
Ditto, with seven days' notice	5 per cent.
Ditto fourteen days	5¼ per cent.

* At the London and Westminster, 3½ per cent. only on sums below 500*l*.

About 12,000*l* in bar gold was taken to the Bank yesterday, while 200,000*l* in sovereigns was withdrawn for Brazil. There were no bullion operations to-day. The 244,500*l* Australian gold arrived by the Great Britain has been bought for export, the demand for the Continent having increased.

The biddings for 400,000*l* in bills on India took place on Wednesday, at the Bank of England. The proportions allotted were—to Calcutta, 222,400*l*; to Bombay, 160,000*l*, and to Madras, 17,600*l*. The minimum price was, as before, 1s 11½d per rupee on Calcutta and Madras, and 1s 11¾d on Bombay. The applications within the limits amounted to 4,260,000*l*. Tenders on Calcutta at 2s will receive about 18 per cent., and above that price in full; on Bombay at 2s 0¾d, above 76 per cent., and on Madras at 2s 0½d in full.

The annexed resolution has been passed by the Committee of the Stock Exchange, and stands for confirmation on Monday. There is no doubt that it is a step in the right direction, but apparently its only effect will be to cause all bargains previous to allotment to be upon honour, as in the case of the Confederate loan, Turkish Consolides, &c., and also all transactions after official hours. In an indirect way, however, it will probably have the satisfactory result of checking speculation among the outside public :—

"The Committee will appoint a settling day for transactions in shares of a new Company if no allegation of fraud or misrepresentation has been submitted to them, and provided sufficient scrip or shares be ready for delivery; but such settlement shall be special and shall not apply to bargains made previously to delivery of allotment letters; no differences arising out of such bargains shall under any circumstances be allowed as claims against a defaulter's estate."

The following are the rates of discount in the chief cities of the Continent, showing a decline at Frankfort :—

ENGLISH FUNDS.—Consols have been rather firmer this week, although no material variation has taken place in prices. The closing quotations this afternoon were 91½ to ⅝ for money and 91⅞ to 92 for the new account on the 5th of May. At the monthly settlement that took place to-day it appeared that the outstanding speculation was chiefly for the fall, and hence the demand for loans for carrying over purchases was moderate. Reduced and New Three per Cents. were rather better at 89⅝ to ¾; while India Five per Cents. left off the same as last week, at 104½ to ¾.

Exchequer bills have slightly improved to 7s to 2s discount. India bonds remain without change at 8s to 3s discount.

FOREIGN STOCKS.—There have been few fluctuations this week except in Mexican bonds, which have been alternately depressed and raised by the conflicting statements respecting the ultimate acceptance of the throne by the Grand Duke Maximilian, and the consequent arrangement of the old debt. To-day, especially, it was announced that the new loan would be forthwith introduced in London, Paris, Frankfort, Brussels, and Amsterdam. Compared with last Friday, there has been a rise in the old bonds of nearly ½ per cent. Greek stock was rather dull in the earlier part of the week, but rallied to-day, during official hours, to 24½ to 24¾, and afterwards went to 25⅜ to 25⅞. Portuguese and Russian bonds were firm, while Turkish showed increased weakness, the Consolidés especially falling to 52¼ to 52½. The Confederate Cotton Loan has improved to 55 to 57. A reduction of about 1½ per cent. has taken place in Venezuelan 6 per Cents., owing to the introduction of a new loan. Spanish Passive is about ½ per cent. lower.

The final price of French Three per Cents. on the Paris Bourse this evening was 66f 15c, or about an eighth higher than last week.

The proposed meeting of Mexican bondholders has again been postponed to next Monday.

A new Venezuela loan has been announced by the General Credit Company of a nominal capital of 1,500,000*l*, secured on the export duties of the Republic. The stock is to bear 6 per cent. interest, and is issued at 60, or, allowing for accrued dividend, &c., at 55. The scrip commands in the market a small premium.

Subjoined is a list of the highest and lowest prices of Consols every day, and the closing quotations of the principal English and foreign stocks on last Friday and this day :—

RAILWAYS AND OTHER SHARES.—The railway market has been rather dull, and several of the leading stocks have fractionally declined, particularly London and North-Western, Lancashire and Yorkshire, Great Western, South-Eastern, and Great Eastern. London and South-Western, and Great Northern, on the other hand, are rather better. A fresh rise of between 2 and 3 per cent. has taken place in Metropolitan.

In the colonial and foreign markets there has been little activity, but prices are firmly maintained, and in some of the Indian descriptions a slight rise has occurred. Great Western of Canada shares and Dutch Rhenish are also higher.

Much excitement has prevailed in the market for bank and financial shares, and the transactions of the week have been on an unprecedentedly large scale. In most descriptions a considerable advance has taken place, although it has not been fully maintained to the close. International Financial Association left off at 6⅞ to 7⅛ premium; General Credit, 5⅞ to 6⅛ premium; London Financial, 12¼ to 12¾ prem.; and Egyptian Trading 3¼ to 3½ prem. There has been some demand for Hudson's Bay shares, and the price has risen to 19 to 19½.

FOREIGN EXCHANGES.—There has been no material change in the rates this week.

BULLION. — Annexed is the weekly circular of Messrs Pixley, Abell, and Langley on the transactions in bullion during the week, and in Indian rupee paper :—

Gold.—An amount of 60,000*l*, in sovereigns, has been withdrawn from the Bank for shipment to the Cape; with this exception, the arrivals have been sufficient to supply the orders for export, which have somewhat increased during the past week. The Parana has brought 7,740*l* from the Brazils; the Australasian, 28,000*l* from New York; the Essex, 93,000*l* from Melbourne; the Great Britain, 244,500*l* from Melbourne. The La Plata has taken 79,760*l* to the West Indies; and the Ceylon £6,500 to Alexandria, and 7,680*l* to India.

Silver.—The La Plata has taken 2,120*l* to the West Indies, and the Ceylon 125,930*l* to India. The market has been rather active during the last day or two, owing to the high rates at which the Council drafts were taken yesterday. We quote the price at 61¾d to 61½d per oz. standard.

Mexican Dollars.—Those brought by tde Atrato have been sold at 63½d per oz., showing a slight reduction in price. Our market is now nearly cleared of this coin, and the price is therefore nominal.

Exchange on India for "60 days' sight" bank drafts remains about the same as this day week, viz., 2s to 2s 0½d Bombay, and 1s 11¾d to 2s Calcutta and Madras. For drafts, however, at short siggt on Bombay there has been an excessive demand, 2s 0¾d has been paid, at which price also the Council drafts were disposed of yesterday.

India Government loan notes are rather weaker, and we quote prices as follows:—5½ per Cents., 112 to 114; 5 per Cents., 103 to 105; and 4 per Cents., 93 to 95.

Quotations for Bullion.—Gold—Bar gold, 77s 9½d per oz std, last price; ditto, fine, 77s 10½d per oz std, last price; ditto, refinable, 77s 11½d per oz std, last price; Spanish doubloons, 77s per oz; South American ditto, 74s to 74s 6d per oz, nominal; United States gold coin, 76s 4d per oz, last price. Silver—Bar silver, 5s 1¾d to 5s 1⅞d per oz std; bar silver, containing 5 grs gold, 5s 2d per oz std, last price; Mexican dollars, 5s 3¼d per oz, last price; Spanish dollars (Carolus), 5s 1d per oz, last price; five-franc pieces, 5s to 5s 0½d per oz.

The outward Brazilian steamer sailing to-morrow will take 205,310*l* in gold, and 17,700*l* in silver.

FAILURES AND MERCANTILE EMBARRASSMENTS.—The suspension has been announced of Mr Thomas Freeman, of Spa road, Bermondsey, timber merchant, with liabilities of about 20,000*l*. An unfavourable liquidation is apprehended.

PUBLIC COMPANIES.—Mr Kirkman Daniel Hodgson M.P., has been re-elected Governor of the Bank of England, and Mr Henry Lancelot Holland, Deputy-governor.

At a general meeting of the Commercial Dock Company on Tuesday, a resolution was passed approving the bill now pending in Parliament to enable an amalgamation of this undertaking with the Grand Surrey Canal and Dock Company.

At the thirtieth annual general meeting of the Agra and United Service Bank, the report stated that the dividends for the past year have been at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum besides a bonus of 4*l* per share, making a total return of 18 per cent. A further sum of 25,000*l* has also been added to the reserve fund, which now stands at 225,000*l*. The business of the undertaking was said to be making marked progress both at home and abroad. It is intended to change the name of the bank to that of "Agra and London Bank."

It is stated that the Egyptian Commercial and Trading Company have received advices from Alexandria by which it would appear that preliminary arrangements have (subject to the approval of the shareholders) been made for the amalgamation of that Company with the Egyptian Navigation Company, with the combined capital of four millions, as it at present stands, and on which the Government (with the sanction of the Sublime Porte) has agreed to guarantee seven per cent. per annum for 90 years, and to accord to the amalgamated company special privileges connected with the navigation of the Red Sea and Nile. The Egyptian Commercial and Trading Company have also nearly completed arrangements for the establishment of the Anglo-Egyptian Navigation Company, with a line of steamers between London, Liverpool, and Alexandria, touching at Havre, Marseilles, &c.

At the first meeting of the Canadian Loan and Investment Company, on Monday, it was resolved to make a distribution by way of interest at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum, free of income tax. The report stated that the whole of the paid-up capital has been profitably employed in Canada, and that the Directors propose to extend their business by raising additional funds on debentures.

The Directors of the British and Californian Banking Company (Limited) have concluded an arrangement with the well-known firm of Faulkner, Bell, and Co., of San Francisco, for the acquisition of their banking and exchange business. Mr James Bell, of that firm, will be a local Director at San Francisco, and Mr Henry D. Harrison, of the same house, will join the London Board.

The report to be presented at the meeting of the Bank of British Columbia, on the 13th inst., shows an available total of 9,179*l*, and recommends a dividend at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum, which will absorb 3,125*l*. It is also proposed to write off the whole of the preliminary expenses, 2,156*l*, and to carry 2,000*l* to reserve, after which a balance will remain of 1,898*l*.

It is said that the London agency of the King Street Branch of the Manchester and Liverpool District Bank (late Messrs Loyd, Entwistle, and Co.) will be transferred from Messrs Jones Loyd and Co. to Messrs Smith, Payne, and Smiths.

At a meeting of the Company of Copper Miners of England, it was stated that the net profit in the past year was 29,672*l*, of which 15,232*l* was appropriated to meet losses in the three previous years, leaving 14,440*l* for division. A dividend of 5 per cent. was declared on the preference shares. A committee was appointed to confer with the directors in a proposed amalgamation of the ordinary and preference shares.

The International and Financial Society and the Anglo-Austrian Bank have this week issued the prospectus of the Lemberg-Czernowitz Railway Company, an undertaking formed to extend the railway communication already existing between Vienna and Lemberg to Czernowitz, on the Moldavian frontier, whence a further prolongation through Moldavia to Galatz, on the Danube, will be hereafter carried out by an independent company. The line will thus form an important link in an unbroken and direct railway communication between the Baltic, German Ocean, and Black Sea. The capital as settled by a contract with Mr Brassey is 2,450,000*l*, of which 1,200,000*l* in bonds has already been taken, leaving 1,250,000*l* in shares now offered to the public. The Austrian Government guaranteed a minimum return of 150,000*l*, payable in silver, which, after providing 5 per cent. interest for the bonds, and for a annual sinking fund, will leave a clear profit to the shareholders of 7 per cent. The contract also provides for the payment of 6 per cent. during construction.

The prospectus has also appeared of the International Land Credit Company, based upon existing institutions on the Continent which have already been worked with success. The nominal capital is 8,000,000*l*, of which 6,000,000*l* will be first issued in 300,000 20*l* shares. Of these, 250,000 are subscribed for abroad, leaving 50,000 for England. The main function of the undertaking will be the raising of capital in the great money markets of Europe by the issue of bonds and "lettres de gage," to be employed through associated local companies in purchases of land, or loans upon real property, at high rates of interest.

The Telegraph Construction and Maintenance Company is constituted for the purpose of making and maintaining telegraphic lines of communication, both submarine and on land, in every part of the world. Arrangements have been made by which the business of the Gutta Percha Company and that of Messrs Glass, Elliot, and Co. will merge in the new undertaking, the managing directors being Mr Barclay and Mr Glass. The large profits realised by the above firms, and the prospect of a considerable extension of the business, are considered to justify the expectation of a considerable return to the shareholders. The board comprises names of the highest respectability. The capital is 1,000,000*l*, of which 750,000*l* will be issued in the first instance.

The Continental Bank Corporation will, on the 14th inst., open a branch at Paris, under the management of M. Gustave Couturier, chief partner of the firm of MM. Gustave Couturier and Co., bankers, Paris.

The Commercial Bank of India and the East (Limited)—capital one million—is intended to take over the business, assets, and reserve fund of the Commercial Bank of India, which was established at Bombay in 1845. The shares of this bank have been at a very considerable premium for a considerable time, and the last dividend was at the rate of 9 per cent. per annum.

The Oriental Financial Corporation (Limited)—capital 1,000,000*l*, in 20,000 shares of 50*l* each—is intended to promote financial, commercial, and industrial enterprises in India and the East. The Company will act as a financial agent, and do the business of a loan and financial Company, dealing with approved securities in various parts of the world.

The subscription list of the Telegraph Construction and of the International Land Credit Company is now closed.

Bonelli's Telegraph shares have been dealt in at 1¾ to 2 prem.

COMPARATIVE EXCHANGES.

The quotation of gold at Paris is about ½ per mille premium, and the short exchange on London is 25.17½ per 1*l* sterling. On comparing these rates with the English Mint price of 3*l* 17s 10½d per ounce for standard gold, it appears that gold is about the same price in London and Paris.

By advices from Hamburg the price of gold is 423½ per mark, and the short exchange on London is 13.4⅜ per 1*l* sterling. Standard gold at the English Mint price is therefore about 1-10th per cent. dearer in London than in Hamburg.

COMMERCIAL EPITOME.

FRIDAY NIGHT.

The wheat trade at Mark lane, to-day, both as regards English and foreign produce, was very inactive, yet no quotable change took place in prices, compared with Monday. Factors, however, would have been compelled to accept less money, had they shown any disposition to force sales. Oats were less active, and, in some instances, rather cheaper. Other articles moved off slowly, on former terms. This week's imports amount to 3,510 quarters of wheat; 2,530 barley; 30,710 oats; 75 sacks and 2,840 barrels of flour.

At Liverpool, this morning, wheat moved off slowly, at rather lower prices. Flour and maize sold heavily, at previous quotations.

The Liverpool cotton market has been again without animation. Prices of American cotton are reduced ¼d and East India ⅛d to ¼d per lb, compared with last Friday. The sales reach 46,000 bales (or 12,000 bales more than were expected according to the daily reports), 4,000 bales of which have been taken on speculation, 7,000 for export, and 35,000 by spinners. To-day's market closed steadily. The sales are 7,000 bales.

During the first week in March the cotton trade at Bombay was very dull, and prices declined 10 to 15 rupees per candy. From the 7th to the 12th the market, however, was much more active, and the above fall in the currency was, in a great measure, recovered. We extract the following table of prices and exports from Messrs Nicol and Co.'s circular :—

We learn from Matamoras that since Jan. 1863, from 80,000 to 85,000 bales of cotton were shipped from that port.

The sugar trade, to-day, owing to the proposed reduction in the duty, has shown increased animation, and the quotations have had an upward tendency. Up to last night, however, the amount of business transacted was small, and was chiefly confined to brown qualities at very full prices. Refined sugar is very firm, at enhanced currencies. Coffee has ruled less active, and plantation kinds have fallen 1s per cwt. Cocoa, however, has realised 2s to 3s per cwt more money than last week. Rice supports previous rates; but rum is very dull.

We extract the following from Messrs Trueman and Rouse's circular :—

The public sales of tea have passed off with a fair amount of activity, and prices have ruled firm. In the private contract market, however, a limited business has been transacted, on former terms. Common congou is quoted at 1s to 1s 0½d per lb. Advices from China state that the export to great Britain had reached nearly 104,000,000 lbs. The stock in London is 93,103,000 lbs, against 84,467,000 lbs last year.

Limited supplies of English wool continue on sale. Deep-stapled qualities move off freely, and fine Lincolnshire hoggets command 2s 6d per lb. Down wools realise high prices.

The stock of sold silk in London is 12,693; of unsold, 21,640 bales. The delivery in March was 4,662 bales.

Large public sales of jute have been held; nevertheless, the biddings for nearly all qualities have been somewhat active, at full prices. Flax supports previous rates, but hemp is a slow sale, at 38*l* to 41*l* for clean Russian qualities.

In reference to the state of the tobacco trade, last month, Messrs Grant, Hodgson, and Co. observe :—The market presented a very quiet appearance, and sales generally were of an extremely limited character, being confined to the small amount of 749 hhds—viz., 244 hhds Kentucky leaf, 217 hhds strips, 26 hhds and tierces of Virginia strips, and 262 hhds of Maryland. The trade have purchased with extreme caution, and chiefly to supply immediate requirements. Prices for old imports, of good and fine descriptions, were fairly supported; but sales of last year's importation were in most instances in favour of buyers. Demand for exportation extremely limited, and almost exclusively for fine Western leaf for Spain and Africa, and Virginia strips for Australia. Common descriptions of all growths were almost entirely neglected. A fair inquiry existed for various sorts of substitutes. Imports—195 hhds. Deliveries—1,076 hhds, against 981 hhds in the corresponding month of last year. Stock—17,525 hhds, against 18,843 hhds in 1863, 24,217 hhds in 1862, 19,709 hhds in 1861, 17,508 hhds in 1860, and 12,655 hhds in 1859.

A full average business, observe Messrs Powell and Co., was transacted in leather last month. Heavy sole leather, with difficulty, supported previous quotations, but all other descriptions ruled firm in price. The supplies on offer were by no means extensive.

Scotch pig iron, at one period of the week, was worth 59s, but the quotation is now 58s 6d to 58s 9d cash, mixed numbers. Copper may be had at prices 3l to 4l below the official rates.

The oil trade has been tolerably firm, but tallow has met a slow sale, at from 41s 6d to 41s 9d per cwt, on the spot.

Trade in imported goods at New York, during the week ending March 26, ruled firm, at very full prices. The British export demand for wheat and flour had not improved, but the market showed increased activity, in consequence of several parcels having been taken for the Canadian markets. Money was tighter, and the banks had advanced their rate to 7 per cent. Gold had realised 66⅝ prem. The return of the banks for the previous week showed an increase in loans of 1,694,350l, an increase in specie of 61,825l, and an increase in deposits of 328,590l. The stock of bullion was about 4,391,800l. The balance in the sub-treasury on the 19th ult. amounted to 7,959,750l. The shipments of specie, from Jan. 1 to March 19, reached 1,951,910l, against 2,572,856l during the same period in 1863, 1,508,972l in 1862, 276,654l in 1861, and 608,216l in 1860.

COTTON.

NEW YORK, March 23.—The market was steady on Saturday, but dull on Monday, at a reduction of 1 to 2 cents per lb in prices. Yesterday, a good business was done at the decline, together with settlements and renewals of contracts for future delivery, the market closing firmer. The receipts have been from St Domingo, 4 bales; Laguayra, 48; Havana, 28; New Orleans, 1,664; picked up at sea, 7; per railroad, 1,971; North River, 22—total, 3,744 bales. Total import since 1st inst., 31,003 bales; total import since 1st September, 164,138 bales. Export from 1st to 22nd March, 2,742 bales, against 100 bales in 1863.

NEW YORK, March 24.—The trade is somewhat firmer, at 73 to 74 cents per lb for middling Uplands.

Much dulness has prevailed in the cotton market this week. The import has been large, and holders disposed to realise; there has, however, been a fair demand from the trade, and a pretty good inquiry for export. The better descriptions have maintained their value very fairly; but the lower, comprising Eastern qualities generally, have been very unsaleable, and are quoted ¼d to ½d lower. We make little change in American, Egyptian, or Brazil. The reported export amounts to 7,270 bales, consisting of 820 American, 700 Brazil, and 5,750 East India. Sales to arrive:—Egyptian fair: shipments, March 26, April 26; at sea, fair to good fair open, 27¼; delivery, April 26 and 26½, May 26, July 26. Paraiba: at sea, 26. Pernam.: at sea, fair 26. There is a steady tone about the market to-day, and prices are quite firm, except in inferior cottons. Sales, 7,000 bales, including 2,500 on speculation and for export.

The imports, this week, are 58,319 bales, and the quantity of East India, &c. now afloat for England is 310,000 bales, against 140,000 last year at this time.

MARKETS IN THE MANUFACTURING DISTRICTS.

A fair average amount of business has been transacted in the manufacturing districts during the present week, and the quotations, generally, have been well supported. The stocks of cotton goods are still very limited. Coals have realised very full prices, and the iron trade may be considered steady.

MANCHESTER, April 7.—This market has continued very sluggish, and displayed no particular feature, except that poor qualities of yarns and cloths have rather gone into greater disfavour, whilst good qualities of the same have maintained their position. The demand has been chiefly for small quantities out of stock. For China, some larger inquiry has been experienced, but it has resulted in little business. Since delivery of India letters this afternoon a little more confidence has been expressed. A few purchases have been made during the week for the Brazils and the West Coast of South America.

BRADFORD.—For all deep-stapled wool a good inquiry has prevailed, and a considerable quantity has changed hands. Prices generally continue to harden, and an advance is paid upon certain classes which are becoming extremely scarce. There is, upon the whole, an improvement in yarns. The German trade had at length somewhat improved, and orders are more numerous. A considerable business is still done in 40's. Pieces—Some of the home houses have been placing a few orders for plain goods, but the Manchester men still hold back, and the bulk of the orders for the autumn have yet to be placed. The inquiry for novelties in fancies is now becoming very general.

ROCHDALE.—Yorkshire fabrics sell well at fully former prices. Merchants are doing very little in the way of speculation, but the warehouse business is pretty regular, all things considered. Manufacturers will scarcely receive orders except for immediate delivery.

LEEDS.—The purchases included a fair amount of good black cloths and stout and medium whites, as well as light meltons, tweeds, and other fabrics for summer wear. Prices were generally well maintained. There is no change in the prices of wool, but late quotations are well supported. The flax trade is moderately active, and prices of flax, yarn, and threads are firm.

HUDDERSFIELD.—The better class of fancy trouserings have been selling, and some demand has existed for middle-class goods. Light summer goods have been purchased pretty extensively by continental shipping houses, but the demand for the country trade is lessened by the cold weather. A ready sale is obtained for piece-dyed black doeskins and woollen and Bedford cords. The better class fancy trouserings have met with a steady demand, but there is a slower sale for middle-priced goods in crapes, hair lines, twists, satteras, &c.

LEICESTER.—The hosiery trade is becoming active now that the holidays are over, and more business is being done at the warehouses. In the rural districts there is not much change. The yarn market holds firm at high rates, spinners making generally to order. There is a fair amount of business doing in wools, and high prices are realised.

NOTTINGHAM.—There has been rather more doing in lace goods. The plain trade has improved a shade. Buyers are purchasing rather more freely of cotton goods. There is very little doing in black silk laces and narrow edgings. Silk mechlins are still selling freely. Yarns are exceedingly firm, and very high in price.

CARDIFF.—The iron market is in a very firm condition, and the high rates are likely to continue, unless some sudden change takes place in our political relations. Bars are quoted 7*l* 15s, at which a brisk trade is being done. Scotch warrants are 58s cash, and 59s to 59s 6d open. Foreign freights still continue high, and vessels of the smaller class are scarce.

NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE.—The freight market has not been active, and the quotations for London are to-day 6s 3d per ton. There has been a decided improvement in the chemical trade.

BARNSLEY.—The great proportion of the collieries, and all the large ones, are closed, and but a comparatively small tonnage now leaves the district, either for the metropolitan or provincial markets.

BIRMINGHAM.—The trade of the town is inactive. This is mainly attributable to the fact of the country orders having fallen off of late, and up to this time there has been only a moderate amount of business done in goods suitable to the spring trade.

NORWICH.—The shoe trade here continues to be pretty well maintained, but the manufacturing business of the town is still in a somewhat sluggish state.

SHEFFIELD.—The continental trade is dull, orders from France being small, except for steel, and those from Germany and Russia being much below the average; Spain and the Mediterranean States are sending average orders. The late mails from India and Australia have brought considerable orders, and more is doing with the Cape and other minor markets. The American demand for steel is large, but the quantity of cutlery and other manufactured goods is scarcely so large. The file and tool trades are moderately good, and the machinists are still busy.

WOLVERHAMPTON.—Pig iron is selling slightly, but sellers do not give way much, and buyers are rather holding back. 4*l* 10s may be quoted as the price of best hot blast forge pigs. In the hardware trades, the foreign demand is rather better.

GLASGOW.—After a fortnight's extreme inaction, during which warrants ruled about 58s cash, the pig iron market has manifested a tendency to activity. G.m.b., No. 1, 58s 6d; 3, 57s 6d; No. 1, Gartsherrie, 63s; Coltness, 62s 6d; Calder, 61s; Glenk, 59s; Forth, 57s 6d; Carron, 58s.

DUNDEE.—Our flax market continues quiet. Prices of goods on the spot are without change. On contract, there is comparatively more doing, at prices still tending upwards. Two vessels have arrived here, and one at Montrose, from Memel. In tows there has been little doing. Fine jute continues in fair demand, at about former prices; common and medium kinds, however, are very dull. Flax and tow yarns continue in fair request, at steady prices; and some kinds of jute yarns are much wanted for immediate delivery. Orders for linens continue plentiful, and manufacturers are generally full of employment for some time to come.

BELFAST.—There has been more doing in linens, both in the home and export trade. For medium and coarse yarns, a steady trade exists, and consumption keeps pace with production. Tow yarns are also in active requirement, and prices have a tendency upwards.

CORN.

AMERICAN GRAIN AND FLOUR MARKETS.

NEW YORK, March 24.—Several parcels of flour having been taken for some of the Canadian markets, the flour trade is firmer, and prices have advanced 15 cents per barrel. Very little is doing for export to Great Britain. State is quoted at $6.40 to $7.25; Ohio, $7.15 to $8.25; Michigan, Indiana, and Wisconsin, $6.80 to $7 per barrel. The supply of wheat on sale is small, and although the export business is trifling, the quotations are on the advance. Spring Chicago is worth $1.61 to $1.64; and Milwaukee Club, $1.62 to $1.64 per bushel. Corn is dull, at a decline of 3 to 5 cents per bushel. Old Western, mixed, may be had at $1.55 cash, or $1.26 usual credit.

LONDON MARKETS

STATE OF THE CORN TRADE FOR THE WEEK.

MARK LANE, FRIDAY EVENING.

The arrivals of English wheat up to our market, this week, having been very limited, the show of samples has continued small. Although millers, generally, hold light stocks, the demand for all descriptions has ruled heavy; yet, compared with last week, very little change has taken place in the quotations. The imports of foreign wheat have again been moderate, and the show of samples has not increased. Really fine qualities have supported previous rates; but all other kinds have moved off heavily, and the currencies have been with difficulty supported. The sale for malting barley has been far from active, at late quotations. Grinding and distilling sorts have met a dull inquiry, on former terms. The malt trade has been in a depressed state; but no further decline has taken place in value. There has been a good demand for oats, at an advance in prices of 6d per quarter. Both beans and peas have commanded quite as much money as of late. The transactions, however, have been only to a moderate extent. The flour trade has continued quiet, at late rates.

The following table shows the exports of grain, &c., from London, last quarter, compared with the same period in 1863 and 1862:—

On the Continent, very little change has taken place in the value of wheat. Buyers appear to have operated cautiously. Spring corn has commanded rather more attention, at previous quotations. In America, only moderate supplies of grain and flour have changed hands for shipment to England.

The accounts from most parts of the country state that the young wheats are looking remarkably strong and healthy. Spring corn has come up in good order. As yet, however, the pastures are bare of food.

In Scotland, fine wheat has moved off somewhat steadily, at full quotations; but all other kinds have met a heavy inquiry. Barley has sold less freely than of late; but no actual change has taken place in prices. Oats have realised extreme rates, with a good consumptive demand. All other articles have ruled about stationary.

The Irish markets have been tolerably well, but not to say heavily, supplied with wheat, in which the transactions have been on a very moderate scale, at previous quotations. All Spring corn has supported previous rates; but the demand has been inactive. Indian corn has been offering on somewhat lower terms. The business transacted in produce for shipment to England has been very limited.

The wheat trade at Mark lane, to-day, was in a most inactive state. No quotable change, however, took place in the value either of red or white qualities, compared with Monday. Barley met a slow sale, on former terms. Oats:—the supply of which was large—were less active, and rather cheaper. Beans and peas were in slow request, yet Monday's currency was supported. Flour changed hands to a moderate extent, at late rates.

Mr George Dornbusch reports the arrival off coast of 14 cargoes of grain,—viz., 7 wheat, 2 maize, 3 barley, and 2 cotton-seed. The demand has been much restricted; nevertheless, most descriptions of produce have ruled about stationary. The total transactions have been confined to 12 cargoes.

COLONIAL AND FOREIGN PRODUCE MARKETS.

TRANSACTIONS OF THE WEEK.

FOR REPORT OF THIS DAY'S MARKETS SEE "POSTSCRIPT."

MINCING LANE, FRIDAY MORNING.

SUGAR.—Within the last three days the market has shown great activity, and some speculative business has been done at 6d to 1s per cwt recovery, owing to the expected reduction in the duty. Importers, however, refrain from realising, and no public sales have been held during the week. Clayed Manilla is again in demand, and numerous floating cargoes of foreign have sold for the United Kingdom. 600 casks West India had changed hands in the three days. The landings rather increased last week, being 3,620 tons, while the deliveries did not exceed 2,580 tons (there is now a deficiency of 12,000 tons for the United Kingdom), leaving the stock at the close 62,570 tons, against 61,840 tons in 1863.

Mauritius.—Some parcels have changed hands by private contract, including crystallised Mauritius, at 48s to 48s 6d. A floating cargo of grainy, No. 13½ to 14, sold at 34s per cwt for the United Kingdom.

Madras.—Several parcels of Jaggery have sold at 35s to 36s. 3,000 bags grainy, to arrive, at 38s, and 2,800 bags brown native at 39s per cwt.

Bengal.—50 tons fine Bally have sold, for arrival, at 52s per cwt.

Foreign.—41,000 bags new clayed Manilla have sold at 41s 6d to 42s. 5,000 bags unclayed at 38s 6d. 650 tons unclayed, to arrive, at 24s. Three floating cargoes of Cuba: muscovado at 30s to 31s; clayed at 33s. One of Porto Rico at 31s. Several of Brazil, latterly including one of Paraiba, at 29s 6d; one of Rio, at 30s 6d; one Havana, No. 11½ to 12, at 32s 6d per cwt, all for the United Kingdom.

Refined.—The tone of the market is firmer, and dry goods have sold at 6d per cwt recovery on the lowest rates current last week. Common descriptions, 54s to 54s 6d per cwt.

RUM.—No change has occurred in the market. Good Demerara has sold at 1s 7d per proof gallon. The total deliveries last week were large, and the stock is now only 1,955 puncheons above that of 1863.

COCOA.—776 bags Trinidad, by auction, chiefly sold at prices fully equal to those current by private treaty: grey to good red, 62s to 76s 6d; fine at 95s. 92 bags Grenada partly sold at 54s per cwt.

There were 61,454 packages brought forward, and a full proportion sold, several breaks of common broken dusty leaf congous from 8d to 8½d, and a few breaks of common red leaf congou at 1s 0¾d and 1s 1d, which were considered firm prices. leaf in boxes, 1s 2d to 1s 6d. Scented caper realised 1s 0½d to 1s per lb. The better grades of green went under the private prices.

COFFEE.—Further arrivals from Colombo have had little influence the market, for most descriptions, and Rio is in demand for Am another cargo selling this week. 197 casks 1,000 bags native Ceylon offered by auction, sold steadily at 71s to 74s 6d for good ordinary good quality. 488 casks 345 barrels and bags plantation partly at 1s decline: 82s to 95s. 1,359 bags East India: Courtallum to 84s; Malabar, 68s 6d to 69s. 9 bales 63 half-bales Mocha chiefly bought in at 90s per cwt for greenish small berry. A float cargo of Rio has been sold for New York, of which the price does transpire.

RICE.—Comparatively limited transactions have occurred by private contract, and the market is quiet: low Rangoon, 8s 3d; pinky Madras 9s 6d to 10s; white Bengal, 10s 6d to 10s 9d. Three floating cargoes of Necrancie Arracan have sold at 10s 4½d for the United Kingdom; of Rangoon at the same price. POSTSCRIPT.

FRIDAY EVENING.

SUGAR.—The market rose 1s 6d to 2s to-day, when the new scale of duties became known, but the business was chiefly speculative. 250 tons clayed Manilla sold, to arrive, at 30s. Two floating cargoes of Mauritius, Nos. 13 to 13½, at 35s. A cargo of brown Paraiba resold at 31s 3d. The week's business in West India is only 670 casks. Grainy and crystallised Demerara, by auction, sold at 48s to 51s. Privately, 6,000 bags Madras have sold: Jaggery, at 37s; native, at 40s per cwt.

COFFEE.—100 cases Nardoo batum sold at 71s to 79s 6d per cwt, being steady prices.

RICE.—548 bags Java, offered by auction, were taken in at 13s. 2,714 bags Bengal, white, at 11s 3d; Ballam, at 8s 6d. Privately, 3,000 bags Moonghy sold at 8s 6d per cwt.

TEA.—The sales were continued to-day, and about 14,647 have passed, with very little alteration in prices. Several breaks of common and black leaf congou realised fair rates. A few parcels of scented caper and scented orange pekoes, however, brought barely previous prices. The sales are postponed until Tuesday next, and the Indian sales will not take place until Thursday, the 14th.

PIMENTO.—778 bags sold at 2⅜d to 2⅝d per lb.

SHELLAC is steady. Good orange sold at 8*l* to 8*l* 5s per cwt.

GAMBIER sold at 23s 6d for good, and 26s per cwt for cubes.

RED SANDERS WOOD.—190 tons sold at 5*l* 7s 6d to 5*l* 10s per ton.

OIL.—1,100 casks cocoa-nut, by auction, sold: Ceylon, 89s 3d to 39s 9d; Cochin, 41s 6d to 43s 6d. 382 casks palm part sold at 33s to 36s per cwt.

TALLOW.—1,350 casks various kinds, by auction, partly sold, including Australian, at 37s 6d to 42s 6d; South American, at 40s to 41s 6d; North American, at 40s to 41s 9d per cwt.

ADDITIONAL NOTICES.

REFINED SUGAR.—The home market for refined sugar is very quiet—no alteration as respects prices. The Dutch sugars here have been much excited for loaves and crushed—several sales have been made in crushed at about 1s advance, and in loaves 1s to 1s 6d for delivery in May and June next.

DRY FRUITS.—In currants buyers act with great caution, as the market shows signs of weakness, owing to the large stock. Raisins are quiet, and lower offers would be accepted for red, and Chesme. Sultanas a little easier.

FLAX.—Market very dull.

HEMP.—Market flat, but little done during the week. The Government contract, 900 tons, is advertised to be bid for on the 3rd May.

COTTON.—Sales of cotton from Friday, 1st April, to Thursday, 7th April, 1864, inclusive:—350 bales Tinnevelly, at 19¾d to 20¾d for good fair; 1,110 bales Western, 19d for middling fair, 19d to 19½d for fair, 19¾d to 19⅞d for good fair; 240 bales Salem, 19d for middling fair, 19¼d for barely fair, 20¼d to 20½d for fully fair; 50 bales Cocoanada, 18¾d for fair; 60 bales Kurrachee, 14d for middling fair, 14⅜d to 14¾d for fair; 100 bales Bengal, 13d for middling; 500 bales China, 17d to 17¾d for fair, 18s for good fair; 395 bales Brazil, 25d to 26d; 10 bales Greek, 25d; 25 bales West India, 26d—total, 2,840 bales. Although there has been a fair amount of business transacted this week, the cotton market continues dull, and in some cases prices are lower, Western and Madras having declined about ¾d per lb, and Bengal, Kurrachee, and China ¼d to ½d per lb. Yesterday, 2,443 bales various descriptions were offered at public sale, 839 bales were sold as reported below, remainder bought in. TOBACCO.—Business has been mostly of a retail character as respects American descriptions; in other growths, transactions have been numerous, but not exceeding a fair average amount. Prices unchanged.

METALS.—We report a continued quiet market. Copper sells but slowly, although higher prices are being paid for ores by the smelters. Tin is neglected, and price of Straits has become a shade easier. Iron is unchanged. Lead is in good demand. Spelter neglected, with stock increased to 11,900 tons here on 1st inst. Tin plates are rather easier to buy.

METROPOLITAN CATTLE MARKET.

MONDAY, April 4.—The total imports of foreign stock into London, last week, amounted to 4,115 head. In the corresponding week in 1863 we received 6,130; in 1862, 2,252; in 1861, 3,258; in 1860, 2,114; in 1859, 2,425; and in 1858, 806 head.

The arrivals of beasts were on the increase, and the quality of most breeds was prime. The beef trade was in a very inactive state, at last Monday's quotations. We were fairly supplied with sheep for the time of year, and nearly all breeds came to hand in good saleable condition. Prime Downs and half-breds in the wool sold slowly at late rates; otherwise, the mutton trade was dull, and heavy sheep declined 2d per 8 lbs. The best Downs in the wool sold at 6s; out of the wool, 4s 8d to 4s 10d per 8 lbs. The top quotation for clipped Lincolns was 4s 4d per 8 lbs. Lambs moved off steadily, at from 6s 8d to 7s 4d per 8 lbs. A few very superior lambs produced 7s 8d per 8 lbs. The supply was only moderate. Calves—the show of which was moderate—were in slow request, at late rates, viz., from 4s 4d to 5s 4d per 8 lbs. The demand for pigs was in a sluggish state, at last week's currency.

THURSDAY, April 7.—Although only a limited supply of home-fed beasts was on offer in to-day's market, the demand for all breeds was in a sluggish state, at Monday's currency. The best Scots sold at 4s 10d per 8 lbs. With sheep we were tolerably well, but not to say heavily, supplied. The mutton trade was in a most inactive state, and in some instances the quotations gave way 2d per 8 lbs. Lambs—the supply of which was moderate—met a slow sale, at from 6s 4d to 7s 4d per 8 lbs. We have to report a dull inquiry for calves, on former terms. In pigs and milch cows, very little was doing, at late rates.

RAILWAY AND MINING SHARE MARKETS.

LONDON.

MONDAY, April 4.—The share market generally to-day closed with a firmer tone, but the business done was chiefly in the banks, in which there were very numerous transactions, resulting in nearly all being finally quoted at an advance. Of the English railways, North British (Edinburgh, Perth, &c.), and North-Eastern (Leeds) improved ½ each, and North British (original) and North-Eastern (Berwick) ¼ each; and South-Eastern further declined ¾, and Lancashire and Yorkshire ¼. In colonial, the only movement was an advance of 1½ in Grand Trunk of Canada (1st preference deferred). In foreign, Great Luxembourg and Namur and Liege recovered ¼ and ⅛ respectively; Northern of France advanced ¼, Antwerp and Rotterdam ¼, Paris and Mediterranean a further ½, and Dutch-Rhenish, Sambre and Meuse, and Lombardo-Venetian a further ⅛ each. In American, the only variation from Saturday's prices was a decline of 1 in Virginia Six per Cents. In British mines, East Caradon were ½ better, East Wheal Russell, Grenville, and North Wheal Crofty each ¼ better; and Tin Croft ½ lower. In foreign mines, Pontgibaud Silver improved ½, Cape Copper ¼, and Panulcillo ⅛; and St John del Rey relapsed 1.

TUESDAY, April 5.—In the share market to-day, the banks were again the most active, and showed an average tendency to further improvement; in the other descriptions there was but little business, with little change of tone, except a degree of firmness in colonial railways, and a downward tendency in British mines. Of the English railways, South-Western improved ½; and Great Western and North-Western declined ¼ each, and South-Eastern a further ⅛. In colonial, Melbourne and Hobson's Bay advanced 1½, and Great Western of Canada (paid-up and new shares) ⅛ and ¼ respectively, and Punjab receded ¼. In foreign, Pernambuco improved ¾, and Antwerp and Rotterdam a further ⅛; Dutch Rhenish, Great Luxembourg, and Sambre and Meuse relapsed ½ each, and ditto (preference) declined ¼. In American, no movement occurred. In British mines, no actual transactions were recorded, but Stray Park closed 1 better, Clifford Amalgamated ½, and North Wheal Crofty ¼; East Caradon and Grenville relapsed ½ each, and South Wheal Frances declined 7½, Great Wheal Vor 2, Nangeles 1, Marke Valley ½, and Great South Tolgus and Hingston Downs ¼ each. In foreign mines, there was no alteration.

WEDNESDAY, April 6.—In the share market to-day, the majority of the transactions was again in the banks, the other descriptions being very inanimate, and the close showed a general but slight tendency to depreciation in all but colonial and foreign railways and foreign mines, which remained without material alteration. Of the English railways, Metropolitan improved ½; and Great Northern (A stock) declined 1½, and Brighton, Manchester, Sheffield, &c., and North-Eastern (Berwick) ½ each. In colonial, the only alteration was a rise of ¼ in East Indian. In foreign, Sambre and Meuse recovered ⅛, and Lombardo-Venetian improved ⅛. In American, Atlantic and Great Western (of both descriptions) receded 1 each, and Illinois Central (ordinary shares) ⅛. In British mines, North Roskear declined 1, Tin Croft ½, and Great Wheal Vor a further 1. In foreign mines, Port Philip improved ½, and St John del Rey declined 1.

THURSDAY, April 7.—English railways were firm, but the other descriptions showed no material alterations in the closing prices. In colonial, Atlantic and St Lawrence receded 1. In foreign, Paris and Orleans and Western and North-Western of France are now quoted ex dividend. In American, no movement occurred in the final quotations.

FRIDAY, April 8.—In the railway market to-day the principal feature was a demand for Metropolitan stock which experienced a rise of ½ per cent.

CAUTION.—CHLORODYNE CHANCERY SUIT.

CHLORODYNE.—Before VICE-CHANCELLOR SIR W. P. WOOD, on Jan. 11, it was clearly proved before the Court that Dr J. COLLIS BROWNE was the original inventor and discoverer of a remedy well known as CHLORODYNE. See TIMES, January 12, 1864.

The public, therefore, are cautioned against using any compound called by the same name, as the spurious compounds are totally deficient of the active principle, and fail to afford the curative effects of the original and genuine—viz., that known as "Dr J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE." Chlorodyne, which is so extensively used in nearly all the Hospitals at home and abroad, is unquestionably the most efficacious and trustworthy of any medicine in use for Consumption, Coughs, Fevers, Croup, Asthma, Cramps, Spasm, Rheumatism, &c., and no house or home should be without it. Numerous testimonials accompany each bottle.—Sole Manufacturer, J. T. DAVENPORT, 33 Great Russell street, Bloomsbury, London. Sold in bottles at 2s 9d and 4s 6d each.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—The Knife Superseded.—All afflicted with ulcers, diseases of the bones and inflammations of the joints, should read this testimonial to the curative power of these healing and purifying remedies. Mr John Allen, 17 Denmark street, Leicester, suffered severely from a bad foot for three years, during which long period he was under surgical treatment without any perceptible benefit. He resolutely objected to amputation which seemed the only course open, till he providentially tried Holloway's remedies, these gave him great relief and at last completely cured him. Spots, blemishes, sores, and skin disorders, arising from impoverished blood or a reckless course of life, may be removed by the judicious use of Holloway's Ointment and Pills.

The Annual Meeting of the Company was held on the 3rd March, 1864, and copies of the Directors' Report and balance sheet may be obtained at any of the offices of the Company.

The Directors of the Lancashire have always been content to let the figures in their annual balance sheets prove the sound financial position of the Company, but they think it due to their numerous shareholders and fire and life insurers to draw attention to the complimentary remarks of the Chancellor of the Exchequer, made in the House of Commons on the 7th March, 1864.—(See TIMES of 8th March.)

The Chancellor of the Exchequer, in moving the adoption of the "Government Annuities Bill," said:—

"I wish to show the manner in which business is transacted by offices of the highest class, and the reserve they think it necessary to hold in order to give themselves a secure position. I am only going to state two or three cases. Hon. members will bear me out when I say that you know a good deal about the position of an insurance society when you get three things—first of all, its date; secondly, its income from premiums; and thirdly, its accumulations. (Hear, hear.) From the relation of these three to one another you know pretty clearly the state of any office."

The Chancellor than gave the figures connected with four offices of the "highest class," these four being,

The Standard (established 1825), the University (established 1825), the London and Provincial Law (established 1846), and the Lancashire (established 1852).

The remarks of the Chancellor, in speaking of the Lancashire, were as follows:—

"I take another younger still—the Lancashire Society, founded in 1852. Its premium income is £23,500; its accumulations, £85,600, or about four years' premium income. I believe, relatively to its age, only twelve years, a very sufficient and satisfactory accumulation."

The Directors have the pleasure in stating that the life accumulations amounted on 31st December, 1863, to £94,699 7s 6d.

Life and Fire Insurances transacted at home and in foreign countries. Proposals and prospectuses may be obtained at the offices of the Company, or from any of its agents.

ABRIDGED PROSPECTUS.

The opening of the "Northern Territory" annexed to the Province of South Australia presents an advantageous opportunity for the establishment of this Company.

The site of the first settlement will probably be either upon the Victoria River, or upon the Adelaide River, Van Diemen's Gulf.

The relative proximity of the New Settlement to the Chinese, Indian, and European markets, and the consequent facility in obtaining cheap and suitable labour with a ready and constant market for its produce, justify the belief that its development will at least equal that of any of the older colonies on the more remote coasts of Australia, whilst its port will be the natural outlet of all the surplus produce brought overland from the interior, and the South. The establishment of the contemplated overland telegraph along this line will greatly promote this development.

The operations of the Company will embrace the following, viz.:—

1. Purchasing, Leasing, and Selling Land.
2. Acting as agents for absentees and others, purchasing, selling, and managing property upon commission, and transacting any other agency business.
3. Receiving money in this country on deposit or debenture, and investing the same in the colony at increased rates of interest.
4. Making advances on mortgage of real estates, and on Government and other securities.

Prospectuses and forms of application for shares may be obtained from the brokers, or at the temporary offices of the Company.

NORTH AUSTRALIAN COMPANY

(Limited).

The Directors have the satisfaction of announcing that they have secured for the Company a considerable portion of Land in the new settlement at 7s 6d per acre including Town Lots.

As there are no more town lots for sale, and as the next and final sale of country land in this country will be at 12s per acre, and all subsequent sales in the Colony at the upset price of 20s per acre, the great advantage the Company secures by this arrangement is manifest

WORKS.

Wharf road, City road, N., and East Greenwich, S.E.

This Company has been formed for the purpose of making and maintaining telegraphic lines of communication, both submarine and on land, in every part of the world.

The facility of intercourse which telegraphic communication, now in such extensive operation, has afforded to the public in its varied communities—Political, Commercial, and Social—has rendered that which was, but a few years ago, regarded merely as a scientific experiment, absolutely necessary for the purposes of our social system, and a highly remunerative investment. It has been found that, as in the case of railways (although to a much greater extent), telegraphic cables have uniformly developed a constantly increasing traffic, with this remarkable and special feature, that the more distant the points brought into connection, the greater the proportion of business done.

Experience has proved that increasing receipts from the working of submarine cables bring with them only a trifling proportionate increase in the amount of working expenses.

Messrs Glass, Elliott, and Company and the Gutta Percha Company have hitherto together had the principal share in the manufacture of submarine telegraphic cables.

The former firm, who have undertaken the manufacture, laying down, and maintenance of the cables, have hitherto obtained the inner cores of the cables from the Gutta Percha Company, which has, in this branch of its trade, confined itself entirely to the production of that part of the cable.

Messrs Glass, Elliott, and Company have, during the last ten years, manufactured and laid down in different parts of the world no less than 6,500 miles of submarine telegraph cable, whilst the Gutta Percha Company have, during a like period, manufactured upwards of 9,000 miles of insulated wires for submarine telegraph cables now in work.

It has been ascertained that the manufacture of entire cables could be more securely and beneficially carried on by uniting in one establishment the manufacture of the outer cable and wires, and the execution of the portion of the work heretofore separately executed by the Gutta Percha Company, and with this view contracts have been entered into for the purchase of the entire machinery, premises, plant, patents, stock, goodwill, &c., of the Gutta Percha Company, by Messrs Glass, Elliott, and Company: and that firm have agreed to transfer to this Company, at the cost price to them, the works so acquired. A contract has also been concluded with Messrs Glass, Elliot, and Company, for the acquisition, by this Company, of their manufactory, premises, patents, stock, and business, the consideration being paid, to the extent of £100,000, in fully paid-up shares of the Company. Under these combined arrangements, the Company will enter into possession of the amalgamated business, and be entitled to their profits as from the 1st of January last.

The Company's business will be conducted under the personal superintendence of Mr Barclay and Mr Glass, as managing directors, assisted by the efficient staff of the united Companies.

The agreement with Messrs Glass, Elliott, and Company provides for the assignment, with the consent of the Treasury, to the Company of the lease held by that firm of the Submarine Telegraph between Malta and Alexandria. The Alexandria, Cairo, and Suez Telegraph, held by Messrs Glass, Elliott, and Company, under agreement with the Telegraph to India Company, is also comprised in the arrangement.

The large profits which have hitherto been realised by both of the above firms, and the prospect which exists of considerable extension of the business, justify the expectation of a large return to the shareholders, independently of the profits arising from the working of the telegraph lines above referred to.

Copies of the above contracts, together with the Articles of Association of the Company, may be inspected at the Solicitors' Offices.

Applications for shares must be made in the annexed form; but no application will be considered unless the deposit of £1 per share has been previously paid to the Bankers of the Company. This deposit will be returned if no allotment is made to the applicant, and if an allotment is made, it will be applied towards the payment then due.

An option will be given to the subscribers of taking one-fourth of the shares allotted as fully paid up shares.

Prospectuses and forms of application for shares may be obtained at the Offices of the Company, and of the Brokers.

London, April 7, 1864.

ABRIDGED PROSPECTUS.

The Directors of Bonelli's Electric Telegraph Company (Limited), having established a line of telegraphic communication between Manchester and Liverpool, the working of which has proved, even beyond expectation, both practically and commercially, the unrivalled excellence of Bonelli's system, propose to extend their operations throughout the United Kingdom.

Each message is printed by the very act of transmission, in clear Roman characters, and as so transmitted is delivered, without further process, to the receiver, thus absolutely excluding all possibility of error between the sender and the receiver.

The automatic nature and simple working of the Bonelli instrument renders it independent of specially trained, and therefore highly-paid, manipulators. The charge will be 6d for twenty words.

The necessity to which all other telegraphic establishments are exposed, of increasing the staff of operators in proportion with the augmentation of business, does not exist, and, consequently, any increase of business must prove almost absolutely clear profit.

Prospectuses and forms may be obtained from the Bankers, Brokers, Solicitors, or Secretary, at the offices of the Company. Each application must be accompanied with a deposit of £1 per share, which will be returned without deduction if no shares are allotted.

One of the objects of this Corporation is to take over the Business and Assets with the Reserved Fund of the Commercial Bank of India, established in Bombay in 1844, an arrangement to that effect having been made with the shareholders.

By this arrangement, one-half of the required capital (viz., 20,000 shares of £25 each, fully paid up) has been already secured. A further number of 10,000 shares, on which £12 10s per share has been paid up, has also been subscribed for, pro rata, by the shareholders of that Bank. In consideration of the transfer of the business and reserved fund, it has been arranged that these shares be taken at par.

The shares of the Commercial Bank of India command a high premium in Bombay, and, by the last advices received, were above 85 per cent., equivalent to £21 5s premium per £25 share. The last dividend, declared on the 30th June, 1863 (being an interim dividend), was at the rate of 9 per cent. per annum. The reserve fund, by advices lately received from the Chief Manager in Bombay, was expected to amount to above £50,000; the accounts up to 31st December last not being completed, the precise amount cannot be stated.

The remaining 10,000 shares (with the exception of a sufficient number retained for Directors' qualifications not exceeding 500 shares, to be allotted at par) are now offered at a premium of £10 per share, which premium will form part of the reserved fund.

The calls on these shares will be made as follows:—

On application (on Capital account)	2	10	0
1st call (8th July)	10	0	0
2nd call (8th October)	2	10	0
3rd call (8th December)	5	0	0
4th call (8th February), 1865	5	0	0
	25	0	0
On allotment (on Premium account)	2	10	0
1st call (8th July) ditto	5	0	0
2nd call (8th October) ditto	2	10	0

All calls paid on their due dates will be entitled from those dates to their proportion of the dividend which may be declared at the usual half-yearly meeting.

The calls may, however, be paid in anticipation; and on all such payments in advance, interest will be allowed at the rate of £5 per cent. per annum to the respective due dates of the calls.

The Directors trust that the arrangement for the transfer of the business of the Commercial Bank of India will be completed, so as to admit of its being carried on under the Corporation in July next.

Application for shares may be made in the subjoined form; but no application will be entertained unless the requisited deposit has been previously made.

In the event of no allotment of shares being made, the deposit will be returned in full.

Should a less number of shares be allotted than are applied for, the deposit will be made available towards the payment on allotment, and the balance, if any, returned to the applicant.

Prospectuses and forms of application may be obtained from the Brokers, or at the Temporary Offices of the Company.

ABRIDGED PROSPECTUS.

This Company is formed for the purpose of constructing a Railway from Chiasso to Biasca, in the Canton of Tessin, Switzerland, with the design of extending the line to Lucerne, by the Alpine Pass of the St Gothard, or to Coire by the Pass of the Luckmanier.

The line now to be made from Chiasso to Biasca is indispensable to either of these routes, it being the only line allowed by the Swiss Government to connect the railways of North Italy, the line being comparatively easy of construction, free from costly works, and promising a large traffic.

The Company has, however, secured from the Canton Tessin, besides the concession of the line from Chiasso to Biasca, the preferential right to construct the extension of their line to any junction with the system of railways of Central Europe, whether at Lucerne or at Coire, and this peculiarly advantageous condition forms a very important feature of the present enterprise.

State subventions to a very considerable amount have been voted in aid of the proposed Alpine Railway, which is acknowledged to be of the highest national importance to both Switzerland and Italy.

The lines proposed by this Company will complete the shortest overland route to India and China across the centre of Europe, and will effect a saving of three days' sea navigation.

As the line from Chiasso to Biasca, which is intended to join the Lombardo-Venetian line, will open a direct communication between the most important towns of the Canton Tessin and the railway network of Italy, connecting also the three Lakes of Como, Lugano, and Maggiore, and as it forms the key of the whole position, the Directors have resolved to commence this line forthwith, pending the surveys and negotiations for determining the precise Alpine Pass to be finally adopted for the extension.

Responsible contractors have undertaken to construct and complete the line for a sum within the amount of capital; and the works were commenced on the 18th of January, in the presence of Government officials.

Interest at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum will be paid to shareholders during construction, upon the amounts from time to time paid in respect of their shares.

Full particulars are given in the detailed prospectus, which may be obtained, together with the map, at the offices of the Company.

Applications for shares must be addressed to the Directors, and copies of the prospectus may be obtained at the temporary offices of the Company, or at the offices of the Financial Corporation (Limited), 14 Leadenhall street, the Brokers and Solicitors, but no application will be considered, unless a deposit of £1 per share on the number of shares applied for has been paid.

EUROPEAN CENTRAL RAILWAY COMPANY (Limited).—Notice is hereby given, that the SHARE LIST of this Company will be CLOSED THIS DAY, the 9th inst., for London, the 12th inst. for the country, and the 14th inst. for the Continent.—By order.

Gresham House, April 4, 1864.

Provision is made by the Contractor (Mr Brassey) of interest at 6 per cent. per annum during construction. Deposit £1 on application, and £2 on allotment; a further sum of £2 on the 1st of May, after which date no further call will be made for six months.

The great Trunk Railway from Vienna, in the direction of the frontier of Moldavia, is at present complete as far as Lemberg. The communication is effected by means of two lines—the first being the Northern Railway, from Vienna to Cracow; the second the Carl-Ludwig Railway, from Cracow to Lemberg.

The first of these lines pays about 14 per cent. upon its capital. The second was completed only at the end of 1861, but since its opening has paid 8 per cent. upon its capital, and consequently has never required to claim the guarantee of 5 per cent. accorded to it by the Austrian Government.

The present line is the continuation from Lemberg to Czernowitz, near the Moldavian frontier. The concession has been granted by the Austrian Government on terms unusually favourable to the Company undertaking it.

The proposed railway, entering into the heart of the grain and cattle-producing district whence the Carl-Ludwig line obtains its most important traffic, and being constructed at a very considerably less cost, promises to be more profitable than its neighbour.

The continuance of the line through Moldavia to Galatz, on the Danube (for which a concession has recently been granted by the Chambers of the Principalities), must necessarily add largely to the profits of the Lemberg-Czernowitz Railway, which will thus form an integral part in an unbroken and direct railway communication between the Baltic, the German Ocean, and the Black Sea.

The concession, the duration of which is ninety years, stipulates for the commencement of the works previous to the 11th January, 1865, and for their completion within three years; but provision is made for extension of these periods in case of political or financial crisis.

The Government guarantee a fixed sum of £150,000 in silver money as a net annual revenue of the line.

The sum thus guaranteed by the Government, after providing for the payment of interest at 5 per cent. on the Bonds, and for an annual sinking fund, will leave a clear 7 per cent. applicable to the share capital. The sinking fund will be annually applied, by lot, to the redemption of the bonds and shares at par. The proprietors of the shares thus, from time to time, redeemed, will, for each share, receive a certificate entitling the bearer to a participation, during the remaining term of the concession, in all the profits of the Company exceeding 5 per cent. on the original capital.

A contract, which will be adopted by the Company, has been entered into by the concessionaires with Mr Brassey, for a sum of £2,450,000.

This contract provides for the construction of the railway in accordance with the terms of the concession, and for stocking the same with rolling stock. In includes all the preliminary expenses of acquiring the concession and forming the Company; it makes provision for interest during construction on paid-up capital, at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum; and it covers an ample reserve for the expense of management until the railway shall be opened for public traffic.

The concession confers the requisite power to form a Société Anonyme with shares to bearer, whereby the liability of the subscribers will be limited to the amount of 25 per cent. of the nominal amount of their shares.

The capital of the Société Anonyme will be £2,450,000; to be issued, £1,200,000 in bonds, and £1,250,000 in shares of £20 each.

The bonds have already been taken.

Preparatory to the formation of the Société Anonyme (which cannot be definitively constituted, according to Austrian law, until 25 per cent. of the share capital has been paid up), the Lemberg-Czernowitz Railway Company has been formed as a limited liability Company, the shares in which will be exchanged for shares of a like denomination in the Société Anonyme.

A copy of the articles of association, of the Concession, and of the statutes under which it is proposed to constitute the Société Anonyme, can be inspected at the offices of the Solicitors, 46 Parliament street.

Applications for shares must be made in the annexed form, addressed to the Directors of the International Financial Society (Limited), and of the Anglo-Austrian Bank; but no application will be considered unless accompanied by the receipt of Messrs Glyn, Mills, and Co., or of the Anglo-Austrian Bank, Vienna, for £1 per share on the number of shares applied for. This sum will be returned in the event of the application not being acceded to, and if an allotment is made, it will be applied towards the payment of £1 per share then due.

PROSPECTUS.

The object of this Company is to promote financial, commercial, and industrial enterprise in India and the East by the application of English capital, for the legitimate and remunerative employment of which there is ample and constantly extending scope.

The success of the operations of the Financial Companies in England has now been satisfactorily proved; and a similar institution, adapted especially to the requirements of the East, and combining on its direction the needful experience, will have a field for profitable operations equal, if not superior, to any other.

The Corporation will act as General Financial Agents, will make advances on approved securities, and will promote the development of the internal resources of the countries in which it may operate, by assisting in the establishment of sound industrial undertakings and enterprises.

The Corporation will also undertake on commission the investment of funds placed in its hands, either in the purchase of property, or in lending it out on mortgage and other securities. It will receive deposits at rates to be agreed upon; and it will take powers to issue bonds or obligations on the security of its mortgages and subscribed capital.

The revenue of India has risen in a few years from £26,000,000 to £47,000,000, and the aggregate import and export trade during the same period has more than doubled itself. The increasing development of her natural productions, and the successful cultivation of tea, coffee, and other staple articles, together with the high rates there current for money, compared with those upon which it can be borrowed in this country, make the opening very favourable for the establishment of a Company of this description.

Powers will also be taken to extend the operations of the Corporation elsewhere, as may be found expedient.

Arrangements are in progress by which the business may be speedily commenced.

Prospectuses and forms of application for shares may be obtained at the temporary offices, or of the Brokers or Solicitors. The memorandum and articles of association may be inspected at the offices of the Solicitors. In the event of no allotment being made, the deposits will be returned without deduction.

PROSPECTUS.

Shipping has always been a favourite investment in this country, notwithstanding the difficulties necessarily incident to the present system of ownership. A part owner wishing to sell his shares can rarely do so, except after more or less delay, and then only at a price below their actual value; his property is not readily available as a security, and he is liable to be involved in trouble and litigation with his co-owners.

These considerations, combined with the greatly increased size and value of the vessels now employed, have led to the formation of this Company, the shares in which, representing as they will do part of the great marine carrying trade of the country, will, it is confidently anticipated, not only yield a good return as an investment, but will possess the very important advantage of being readily convertible.

The Company will carry on the business of a shipowner, and will be prepared to enter upon any trade, either with sailing or steam vessels, which may from time to time seem desirable. It is intended, at the outset, to employ sailing vessels, but steam will be adopted wherever experience shows that it may advantageously be resorted to.

The acknowledged superiority of iron vessels, in point of durability, carrying capacity, and economy of working, will induce the Company to use them as far as may be practicable.

The actual working of the practical business of the Company will be undertaken by an Executive, to be appointed by the Directors out of their own body.

No payments whatever have been or will be made for promotion fees or for goodwill, nor is the Company committed to any engagements for the employment of agents, or for the taking over or purchase of vessels from any one connected with the Company. Business will, therefore, be entered upon and conducted without reference to any considerations other than the direct interests of the shareholders.

A copy of the Memorandum and Articles of Association may be seen at the office of the Solicitors of the Company.

Should the deposit to be paid on application exceed £3 per share on the shares allotted, the surplus will be returned; should it fall short, the balance must be paid within seven days after notice of allotment, or the allotment will be cancelled and the deposit forfeited. If no allotment is made, the whole of the deposit will be returned.

Applications for shares must be sent through the Bankers of the Company, to whom the deposit must be paid. Forms may be had from the Broker or Solicitors of the Company.

PROPOSED STATUE IN HAWICK

to the Memory of the late Right Honourable JAMES WILSON, Chancellor of the Indian Exchequer.

At a Preliminary Meeting held in the Chambers of the TOWN-CLERK of HAWICK, upon SATURDAY the 26th day of March last, convened for the purpose of considering the propriety of Erecting a STATUE in HAWICK to the MEMORY of The Right Honourable JAMES WILSON, Chancellor of the Indian Exchequer.

PRESENT—

The Hon. William Napier, London.
George Fraser, Esq., Magistrate of Hawick.
George Roberts, Esq., Provost of Selkirk.
The Rev. John Macrae, D.D., minister of Hawick.
The Rev. James Stewart, minister of Wilton.
William Sanderson, Esq., manufacturer, Galashiels.
William Brown, Esq., manufacturer, Selkirk.
Walter Laing, Esq., manufacturer, Hawick.
Thomas Purdom, Esq., Banker, Town-Clerk of Hawick.
Bailie FRASER in the Chair.

It was explained that the statue in honour of the same gentleman designed for erection in the metropolis of India, at the instance of its merchants and other influential inhabitants, being soon to be sent there from this country, it had occurred to some of the friends and admirers of the deceased statesman that steps should be taken to raise, by a general public subscription, a sum sufficient to procure from the same sculptor a copy of the statue for erection in Hawick, his native town.

It was resolved—

1. That the Right Hon. James Wilson, by the virtues of his character, by his able, eminent, and devoted services to his country and to the British Empire, by the dedication of talents, singularly powerful and acute, to the establishment of the true laws of currency and finance, and by his successful labours to bring these to bear upon the general interests of the country, upon the productiveness of the public revenue, the promotion of national wealth, the prosperity of commerce, and the stability of property, is entitled to a distinguished place in the memory and affections of people of all classes and of all political parties in the land.

2. That as our country is ennobled by the monuments of many illustrious men, who have consecrated their genius and their patriotism to the public good, a public statue is a befitting tribute to the honour of one who is now enrolled among their number; who, without adventitious aids, by the force of transcendent energy and integrity alone, rose from an obscure condition to a conspicuous place in the temple of national and universal honour.

3. That no place can be more suitable for such a monument than the place which gave him birth; which, as it is adorned by his fame, would be permanently graced by a monumental memorial of him, and whose people, and the generations that succeed them, possessing and contemplating it, would be reminded of the lasting value of virtues and principles which uphold and promote the integrity and security of kingdoms, and be stimulated to regard that end not only by cherishing his memory, but by profiting by his example.

4. That the gentlemen present form themselves into an interim Committee, to give these resolutions effect, with power to add to their number.

5. That Thomas Purdom, Esq., Town Clerk of Hawick, shall act as the Committee's Interim Secretary and Treasurer.

6. That the Secretary be requested to have these resolutions printed and circulated, and addressed to gentlemen of influence, not only in the neighbourhood, but throughout the country at large, inviting them to allow themselves to be named in the General Committee, who shall take the steps deemed proper for the speedy attainment of the proposed memorial.

THOMAS PURDOM,
Hon. Secretary.

Town Clerk's Chambers, Hawick,
April 2, 1864.

TOBACCO TRADE.—

At a Meeting held on Thursday, at 37 Fenchurch street, of the Importers and Manufacturers, in reference to the proposed amalgamation of the London, St Katharine, and Victoria Dock Companies, the following Resolutions were adopted:—

"That it is the opinion of this meeting that, should the Bill for the amalgamation of the London, Victoria, and St Katharine Dock Companies receive the sanction of the Legislature, the monopoly of such large and important dock accommodation under one Direction would be highly prejudicial to the interests of commerce, as all the competition in rentals and rates which has hitherto existed would entirely cease, and the interests of the importers and manufacturers of tobacco, more especially, would be greatly affected, in consequence of the present restrictions on the warehousing of tobacco.

"That immediate steps be taken, through a Parliamentary agent, for opposing or modifying the said Bill, unless a satisfactory tariff of rent and charges be obtained from the Dock Companies included in the proposed amalgamation, and that means be placed at the disposal of a Committee for this object.

"That a Committee be formed for the protection of the interests of the tobacco trade in this matter.

"That the Committee be instructed to obtain an immediate interview with the Directors of the London Docks, and obtain from them, if possible, some proposition as to the rent and charges to be paid on tobacco after the proposed amalgamation.

"That the proposals already made by other than the three Companies for warehousing cases and bales of tobacco and cases of manufactured tobacco and cigars be taken into consideration by the Committee, and the result be reported to a future meeting.

"That the Committee have full powers to act for the benefit of the trade."

HUBBUCK'S PATENT WHITE ZINC PAINT

Is the most durable and beautiful paint known, does not stain or discolour with the atmosphere of large towns, and by their process, which is patented, is cheaper than White Lead.

It is especially adapted for painting Iron, as, by virtue of a semi-galvanic action, it enters the pores and forms an amalgam of the two metals, which protects the Iron from decay or incrustation. It should be used instead of Red Lead, which is proved to be destructive to Iron exposed to Salt Water.

ADULTERATIONS.—Some Paint Grinders have been selling Zinc Paint adulterated with Sulphate of Baryte, in proportions varying from ten to thirty per cent. No workman can produce good work with such material. Those who have obtained the Patent White Zinc Paint from Grinders who have not adulterated it, will never willingly use any other Paint for their best work.

Each Cask of Pure White Zinc is stamped—

"HUBBUCK, LONDON, PATENT."

THOMAS HUBBUCK and SON, WHITE LEAD, OIL, PAINT and VARNISH WORKS, 24 LIME STREET.

"For public schools, and all rooms occupied by children, there will now be no excuse for using poisonous paints. Parents have remarked, that their children on returning from the country to newly-painted houses have suffered in health. The reason is evident—the breath extracts the insidious poison from paint, and the lungs draw in the deadly vapour."—JOHN BULL, September 14, 1850.
